SWEARING IN—Voter registrars are sworn in by Circuit Clerk John Rutherford Tuesday in preparation for the implementation of one-stop registration. Present at the swearing-in ceremony were registrar Pam Metzger; Hancock County

Election Commission Secretary Charles Gottschalk; registrars Thelma Exncloux, Frances Mitter, Eddie Favre and Arcelyn "Dee" Dastugue; and Rutherford. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Eagan, crew take BWYC's first Mallory Cup title

Skipper Marc Eagan and his crew of Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Wednesday became the 1984 Men's National Sailing Champions after victoriously completing the seven-race Mallory Cup Series at Bay Head, N.J.

Although the walls of the BWYC are lined with trophies and plaques testifying to club victories in a host of local, coastal and national sailing championships, Eagan's win Wednesday marks the first time a team from the local institution has captured a Mallory Cup.

Eagan's crew in the competition against six other Holder Class boats included Corky Hadden of BWYC and Beau LeBlanc of The Southern Yacht Club in New Orleans, La.

The team scored two firsts, two seconds, a third, a fifth and a sixth for a winning low score of 19.5 points.

Also scoring 19.5 points was series runnerup Jack Slattery of Boston, Mass. Under sailing's tie breaking rules, Eagan was declared winner since he finished ahead of Slattery in more races during the series.

The 1984 Mallory series is the second attempt at the title for Eagan who tried first in 1983 at Newport Beach, Calif.

BWYC's Harry Chapman tried for the title in the 1950s and lost by half a point.

Members of BWYC are planning a Friday evening reception at the club to honor the new champions.

One-stop registration starts in County

By DENA BISNETTE

One-stop voter registration is now available in Hancock County.

One-stop registration began Wednesday, according to Circuit Clerk John Rutherford, and replaced the old dual system requiring a voter to register twice if he wanted to vote in both city and county elections.

Under that system, a voter registered at the courthouse if he wanted to vote in county elections and had to register again at city hall if he wanted to vote in city elections. He could not register to vote in the city unless he was also registered in the county.

Under the new system, a voter may register at the courthouse or the city halls in Bay St. Louis and Waveland but does not need to register twice.

Registration in any of the three locations makes a citizen eligible to vote in both the county and the city of his residence, Rutherford explained.

Hancock Countians who have registered to vote since 1972 need not reregister unless they have moved or changed precincts, he said.

Citizens registered in the county only will still need to register for city elections under the new system, but have the option of doing so at the courthouse or one of the city halls.

In preparation for the implementation of the new system, city registrars were sworn in as county registrars Tuesday.

Corps studying deepwater channel

A Corps of Engineers representative reported to a State Senate study committee Monday on the status of 14 flooding and navigation projects and studies in the Pearl River Basin, including a study in Hancock County.

Col. Dennis York of the Vicksburg District, U.S. Corps of Engineers, told the special Senate Study Committee on Flooding in the Pearl River Basin that there are five existing authorized projects and nine ongoing and feasibility studies in the Basin.

He noted that a report should be completed this month on providing a 12-foot deep navigation channel from Port Bienville Industrial Park to the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway. Port Bienville is located in Hancock County just southeast of Pearlinton.

Specific flooding studies deal with the Carthage-Upper Pearl River Basin area, Tylertown, Columbia, Monticello, Mendenhall, Pearl-Flowood, and Jackson. York said that bank erosion is of particular concern in Lawrence and Marion Counties.

York said that the U.S. House of Representatives included in its version of a proposed water resources development act some $81 million for flood control works in the Pearl River Basin including Carthage, Jackson, Monticello and Columbia. However, this bill must be passed by the U.S. Senate and signed by the President to become law.

In discussing the need for numerous flood control studies, York said, "From 1937 to 1973, there was not much high water and a lot of people built in the flood-prone areas."

Sunken boat cabin found off Waveland

By DENA BISNETTE

A boat cabin found in about six feet of water off Waveland Beach Saturday morning apparently washed in from the Cat Island Channel, according to the Bureau of Marine Resources.

Jim Hanley, assistant chief of enforcement at the BMR office in Pass Christian, said divers from BMR and the Hancock County Dive Rescue Unit obtained the boat's registration numbers from the cabin Sunday.

The boat was identified as the Evelyn K., owned by Randolph Collier of Bayou LaBatre, Ala.

The Evelyn K., a shrimp boat, has been missing since Sept. 4, when it sank in heavy seas while being towed to Bayou LaBatre.

Collier and the Coast Guard Division of Marine Safety have been notified that the boat has apparently broken up, Hanley said.

He was unable to say when or if the cabin would be removed from the Mississippi Sound off Waveland because sunken boats fall under the jurisdiction of the Coast Guard instead of the Bureau of Marine Resources.

UNSAFE BRIDGE—This wooden bridge on Old Dossett Road can be used by light vehicles but is unsafe for heavy traffic, Beat Two Supervisor A.A. "Dolph" Kellar says. Plans to replace it are awaiting approval from the State Aid Road Program in Jackson. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Old Dossett bridge unsafe for heavy traffic

By DENA BISNETTE

A bridge on Old Dossett Road in Beat Two is unsafe for heavy traffic but can still be used by light vehicles, according to Beat Two Supervisor A.A. "Dolph" Kellar.

Kellar said he has received several complaints about the bridge since the area in which it is located became part of his district in January.

He plans to have the wooden structure replaced as part of a State Aid Road Project, but is checking its condition once a week.

No one is sure how old the bridge is, but its timbers are rotting, he said.

The bridge can be used by light vehicles, including passenger cars and mail jeeps, but should not be used by heavy trucks and buses.

"The school bus used to cross it but I called the superintendent and the route has been changed. I don't know of anybody except a few local residents using it now," Kellar said.

The bridge was marked with warning signs after Kellar decided it was unsafe for heavy vehicles but the signs have been stolen, he added.

Most of the local residents he has talked to understand the restriction on the use of the bridge, he said, explaining why the signs have not been replaced.

The supervisor said he does not know when the state will approve the bridge project, but said plans for it have already been sent to the program office in Jackson.

Hancock United Way drive to begin with breakfast

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The 1984-85 United Way of Hancock County campaign will officially get underway with a dutch treat breakfast, according to J. Norton Haas, president.

The breakfast will be held at Scaife's Wheel Inn Restaurant, U.S.-90, Bay St. Louis with Pat Harvill as chairman.

A goal of $45,000 has been set with Hilda Bourg, serving as campaign chairman, and Bob Hubbard, chairman-elect. Bourg served as campaign chairman for the successful 1983-84 drive.

The officers and directors of the United Way met Tuesday at Coast Electric's conference room to discuss the 1984-85 campaign.

A large United Way sign is being constructed by Al Summy and will be installed at the intersection of US-90 and Nicholson Avenue near Mason's Exxon Service, Bourg said.

The theme for the local campaign will be "give at home," and payroll deductions will be emphasized during the campaign.

A special United Way film is scheduled to be shown during the kick-off breakfast featuring John Madden, Harvill said.

Three new directors have been added to the local fund raising group. They are Charles Benvenutti, Geraldine Lang, and John Mason.

The new directors replace deceased members Genevieve Daniels and Dick Kosbab, and also Shawn Murphy who left the area.

Other officers include, Norton Haas, president; Conrad Mauffray, executive director; May Beyer, executive secretary; Ellis Cuevas, treasurer; and directors Rev. Charles Clark, Hilda Bourg, George Proulx, Wayne Ducomb, Paul Lewis, Mike Necaise, Joyce Lee, and Pat Harvill.

Conrad Mauffray read a letter from a local resident who is employed by Ocean Drilling and Exploration Company who designates his payroll deductions go to his home county's fund drive.

The Drilling Company's newspaper recently included an article which carried a story featuring Hancock County's United Way which also promoted designated giving for persons working away from home.

The Hancock County campaign is assisted by the Combined Federal Campaign which includes governmental employees at NSTL and other areas along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The United Way of Hancock County supports 15 social service agencies and programs.

These agencies are the Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund, Gulf Coast Mental Health Program, Mississippi Council of Epilepsy, Inc., American Red Cross-Hancock County

EXPLOSION AND FIRE—An apparent explosion and ensuing fire resulted in total destruction of this residence at Rt. 4, Box 39, 11th Street just off Old Nicholson Road in Hancock County Wednesday morning. Reggie Fayard of the County Arson Squad is investigating the incident. Neighbors reported being awakened by a loud explosion and rising to see the entire structure engulfed in flames. Waveland Firefighter Steve Garber said the house was fully involved when firemen arrived.

The alarm was turned in at 2 a.m., he reported. In addition to Waveland Fire Department, East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department and Mobile Medic responded. Original reports indicated the house might be occupied, firemen said, but they learned later owner Charles Watake was in New Orleans at the time of the fire and no one else was in the dwelling. Bay zoning board rejects Stevens request

By DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis Planning and Zoning Board has turned down a request from Raymond Stevens for a zoning change on his property on Old Spanish Trail.

Stevens had asked the board to change the property from R-1, single-family residence, to R-3, multi-family residence, to allow the construction of a four-apartment building.

The request was turned down at Tuesday's board meeting because an R-3 zoning is inconsistent with the rest of the neighborhood, which is R-1, according to board secretary Cindy Draughon.

In turning down the request, the board also considered complaints from Steven's neighbors that he already has two houses on the property, she said.

A group of people opposed to the request had appeared before the board at its August meeting and several of them had told board members they felt Stevens' lot was too small to support three buildings.

In other business, the board discussed but took no action on changing the maximum height allowed for buildings in the city.

The maximum height is currently 35 feet, but the board is considering allowing additional height in areas zoned for multi-family dwellings.

The height limit for single-family dwellings would probably remain at 35 feet, Ms. Draughon said. Height limits discussed for multi-family dwellings ranged from 50 to 75 feet.

The board is expected to discuss the height limits again and possibly take action on the matter when it meets Oct.

IN MEMORIAM

TERRI KAY ZENGARLING

May 15, 1955

September 12, 1978

Each year when leaves turn autumn brown,
And float gently to the waiting ground,
My mind drifts back to memories of you
And the years we had although few.

My love for you is still in my heart.
The bond cannot be broken nor torn apart.
With each passing year the loneliness grows,
A terrible emptiness only a mother knows.

And if there is one thing learned from my loss
It's that each of us is asked to carry a cross.
And mine was so heavy that at times I'd swear—
But God never gives a cross too heavy to bear.

Red Cross campaigns for members

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross met at the Civil Defense Office on Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Caillier, president of the chapter presided over the meeting with seven members in attendance.

Needs assessed include a lack of cots for emergency shelters.

In Hancock County the Red Cross mans eight designated shelters, four of which need managers and all of which need workers, Mrs. Caillier said.

"Each shelter is in need of medical personnel which include doctors, nurses, and EMT's, and persons of all talents," Mrs. Caillier added.

A committee headed by Mrs. Geraldine Lang was named to plan a benefit supper to be held sometime in October.

The next regular meeting will be held at the Civil Defense Building, Valena C. Jones Complex, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis, Oct. 10, 10 a.m., and all interested parties are urged to attend.

The Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross is an agency of the United Way of Hancock County.

Father Francis Theriault, SVD, a member of the chapter's board of directors said, "We need more active interested members to make the Hancock Chapter viable."

MARIJUANA HARVEST—Some 46 marijuana plants were harvested by state and local law enforcement officers on Monday in the Fenton Community. The officers included George Burleson, left, Hancock County jailer; and Nathan Hoda, Hancock County sheriff's deputy. Ronald Peterson, Hancock sheriff, said the plants which ranged up to eight feet tall were burned on Tuesday. A tip was received that the marijuana was growing in the area by Alvin Ladner, Hancock County sheriff's investigator, Peterson said, and a Mississippi Highway Patrol helicopter was used to locate the plants growing in several plots. It was located about one mile off the Kiln-DeLisle Road. Those involved in the harvest were Peterson, Ladner, Hoda, Burleson of the Hancock County sheriff's office, and Highway Patrol Investigators Mickey Ladner, and David Brooks. Quotables by CUEVAS

Local high school football teams did not fare too well on season openers last Friday.

The best game was St. Stanislaus and Hancock North Central which ended with the Rocks winning by two points.

This Friday scoreless Bay High and Pass Christian will meet at Tiger Stadium in Bay St. Louis.

The Tigers and Pirates were unable to cross the goal line last week in stiff competition and things should change this Friday.

The game should be a real good one as both teams should be hungry for a victory.

Hancock North Central should be rebounding from their two point loss and give Pearl River Central a good game.

Pearl River always plays tough against Hancock, especially on their home field, but Hancock could with a little extra effort get victory number one.

St. Stanislaus will host the St. John Eagles in Bay St. Louis Friday night.

Even though a small school, St. John always seems to have a good football squad.

The Rock-A-Chaws should be ready for the Eagles and win game number two. The score should be really close.

We urge everyone to go to a high school football game Friday and support the team of your choice.

Our Senior Citizens have been making frequent trips to the New Orleans World Exposition in groups and individually.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

THE ELEVENTH HOUR

The House of Representatives returned to Washington on September 5 from its August District Work Period to face a crunch of legislation with very little time to deal with it prior to an October 4 adjournment.

The substance of the unfinished business reflects everything that is wrong with the Congress right now. Only four of 13 appropriations bills requiring passage to fund federal programs beginning October 1 have cleared the Congress and been signed by the President.

In addition to the four bills, six more measures have been passed by the House. Unfortunately, every one of the 10 bills acted on by the House are over what President Reagan has requested be spent in 1985 and are over what was spent in the same programs during the past year.

In fact, with its actions on 10 of the appropriations bills alone, the House has overspent President Reagan's budget request for the 1985 fiscal year by $6.5 billion. Given such lack of budgetary discipline, is it any wonder that there is a groundswell of support in state legislatures for a constitutional amendment which would require the Congress to balance its budget every year.

But the House, which talks a good game about concern for deficit spending and then votes the opposite way, has yet to even adopt a budget governing its spending beginning October 1.

For the first time since the Congressional budget process has been in place (1974), this body may very well begin the 1985 fiscal year without a budget, and that is irresponsible.

Inaction also jeopardizes the adoption of a defense authorization bill which contains a number of important issues vital to our nation's future.

A bill aimed at controlling the flow of immigrants across our borders is bogged down in conference. After being considered for over three years, this important issue will be postponed indefinitely if the Congress does not act on it within the next three weeks.

Then there is the consideration of the pocketbook issues which I have heard from Mississippians about and which the leadership of the House has refused to bring to the floor for a vote. They include individual retirement accounts for homemakers, a measure intended to reverse discrimination in laws set up to assist savers.

To aid in the development of downtown urban areas, we should be considering legislation to provide for urban enterprise zones. This legislation would provide incentives, including tax credits, to encourage businesses to locate in depressed, downtown areas.

The eleventh hour of the 98th Congress has arrived.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If it concerns you, it concerns us

Zoologist catagorically disputes justifications for Ammo Plant deer hunt

Sept. 1, 1984
Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Ms

Colonel Bregard's "clarification" of Army plans to conduct a deer hunt at the munitions plant in Bay St. Louis only fuels the flames of opposition.

As we know, the Army is no stranger to committing cruel acts upon animals (i.e. wound experiments upon dogs).

Unbiased observers report numerous accounts of approaching deer on the site without causing alarm. Qualified biologists who have studied the area for years can testify to their tameness as well as to the absurd claim that deer need to be maimed, crippled and killed by bow and arrow or by any other method of control populations.

The "study" referred to is nothing but a mass of supposition created to justify a hunt. Colonel Bregard's reference to "an expert and impartial team of wildlife biologists" is a hoax.

Fish & Game biologists are paid by hunter license fees which also support grants to certain universities to perform "studies." If ever there was outright collusion to justify the unnecessary simply to give hunters a place to play, this is it.

Colonel Bregard's statement that the Army's controlled burning program has increased deer populations should clearly illustrate the desired goal: to increase deer for hunters.

The Army is deliberately attempting to cause an overpopulation problem where none exists. Instituting hunting programs merely compounds the problem by forcing deer to fill the void through increased births.

Colonel Bregard's statement that, without predators, deer will multiply is equally ludicrous. Any first year ecology students knows predators do not control prey populations but only remove incidental numbers.

Deer are fascinating animals. When under stress, they either produce fewer fawns, abort more often, or not even enter their reproductive cycles. Enter "wildlife management" and deer begin to have problems. Sound practices, Colonel? Hardly.

Clearly, the Army's plan is to provide dubious recreation for a few while ignoring overwhelming "mob rule opposition," to quote Capt. Aaron Cobb, Colonel Bregard's public relations liaison.

Surly, no real sportsmen would participate in this organized slaughter, yet over 100 have registered.

But there are even more pressing questions deserving an answer. How much is this costing the taxpayers? If there really is a deer problem, why haven't alternatives to the cruelty of bow hunting been considered?

With all of Colonel Bregard's alleged internal problems at this multi-million dollar facility, why is he spending so much energy and taxpayer money for such a small endeavor?

Doesn't Mason Chamberlain, the civilian company running the plant and helping to coordinate this bloodbath, care about its corporate image? Isn't the fact that Capt. Cobb is a bowhunter and the Army's forester is a taxidermist at least hint at some conflict of interest?

We think Congress should investigate all munitions plant programs —and soon.

Efforts of Labor Day telethon workers praised

Sept. 6, 1984
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Ms

Dear Editor:
Some special commendations should go to Charlie Vidrine and Bryan J. Cuevas for their work Monday, Sept. 3 for the Jerry Lewis Telethon.

I was there as a worker and I saw the effort they put into the broadcast.

Both Charlie and Bryan put their heart and soul into helping raise money for Jerry's Kids.

Like myself, they had never really seen the work that goes on for this fund raiser.

But once you start working with Jimmy Lagasse you really get involved. Mr. Lagasse why this man has done this for so many years.

To all three of these guys they deserve the admiration of everyone. Mr. Lagasse for his many years and Charlie and Bryan for their first year.

Sincerely,

JUDY BERGERON

WHAT IS HYPERTENSION?

Hypertension is the medical term for high blood pressure. It occurs when the pressure the heart needs to pump blood is higher than normal. People who have untreated hypertension are more likely to suffer from heart disease and stroke. High blood pressure can be detected with regular blood pressure checks. The risk of heart disease and stroke can be reduced with treatment to control high blood pressure. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

By Governor Bill Allain

In last week's column, I discussed the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway and its potential for development of the entire state of Mississippi. In recent days, we have intensified our efforts at devising a developmental plan for the Waterway, and I again want to update you on what we are doing.

Many local industrial experts and city and county officials along the Waterway have contacted executive branch agencies regarding the Tennessee-Tombigbee and assistance that the state can offer them. As a result, last week we organized a meeting of state agencies dealing with the Tenn-Tom to discuss how we can coordinate our services to the best advantage of the people and industries along the Waterway.

The bottom line of these discussions focused on finding industries and recreational facilities that will bring new, well-paying jobs to Mississippians.

State agencies present at this meeting at the Governor's Mansion were Governor's Office, Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, Research and Development Center, Department of Economic Development, State Department of Education, Department of Natural Resources, Department of Wildlife Conservation, Forestry Commission, Governor's Office of Community Development, Governor's Office of Appalachian Development, and Department of Energy and Transportation.

Federal and regional agencies and boards represented at the meeting were Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority, Tombigbee River Valley Water Management District, U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and Tennessee Valley Authority.

These agencies, with the Governor's Office as the lead agency, will begin meeting on a regular basis to help solve the developmental and growth problems of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway. We also decided that, as we work on the Waterway on the East side of the state, we will also look for industries and opportunities along the Mississippi River along the West side, and Gulf of Mexico to the South. We believe that a comprehensive approach to developing our water resources will help the state grow economically.

The next phase of our Tenn-Tom work will be a meeting in Columbus in two weeks to hear from local residents of the area. We will be bringing all the state and federal agencies to the area to outline types of services they can provide for local citizens. In return, we hope local groups and individuals will outline for us what they want the state to do or what the unique problems for their local communities will be as the Waterway develops.

We are not planning to tell any community along the Waterway what they can or cannot do. Instead, we want to all work together to provide all the services we can to the area.

Hay fever sufferers face troublesome fall season

IT'S HAY FEVER TIME

More than 18 million hay fever sufferers in the United States will remember 1984 as the Year of the Big Sneeze.

According to the Mississippi Lung Association —the Christmas Seal People—spring of 84 was bad and the fall of 84 may go down in history as one of the worst seasons for victims of hay fever since spring and summer rains have accelerated growth of pollen blooms and plants.

For the one in 20 Americans who suffer from this serious ailment, hay fever is no joke. It is an allergic disorder that can cause headache, irritability, insomnia and gastric disturbances.

The chief systems are sneezing spasms; stuffed-up runny nose; red, swollen and itching eyes; and itchy throat and mouth.

Also, hearing may be impaired and infections of ears or sinuses may result. An even more serious complication is the asthma that 30 percent of chronic hay fever sufferers develop.

Hay fever (sometimes called rose fever in the spring) has nothing to do with fever. It is caused by sensitivity to airborne pollens of trees, grasses and weeds that invade the air seasonally and vary according to regional climates, so hay fever can occur during spring, summer or fall.

At least 75 percent of people with hay fever are sensitive to ragweed, although an individual may react to more than one pollen so that his own "season" can last from early spring through the first frost.

Although there is no cure yet for hay fever, there are up-to-date methods to ease the symptoms. If your doctor determines that desensitizing injections will help, you should start them before the hay fever season and stick to them as directed.

Hay fever sufferers should remain alert for possible complications such as a nose or throat infection or the development of asthma.

Also, if you are using an old prescription, consult your physician because improved remedies have been developed over the last few years. Relief may be given as drops for eyes or nose, as sprays.

Hay fever is generally an inherited family tendency. If you are a victim, don't try new patent medicines. See your doctor and cooperate in the treatment prescribed.

For information about hay fever or any other lung condition, contact your Mississippi Lung Association, P.O. Box 9865, Jackson, Ms 39206.

County school board acts on timber

By DENA BISNETTE

Most of the discussion at the Hancock County School Board meeting Tuesday concerned timber and personnel.

The board took bids for the sale of timber on Section 16-7-14 under advisement at the recommendation of County Forester David Watts after the two bids submitted specified different amounts of usable timber on the land.

The board will check the amounts quoted in the advertisement with State Forestry Commission personnel because a possibility exists that some of the timber on Section 16-7-14 may not have been classified correctly according to current market conditions.

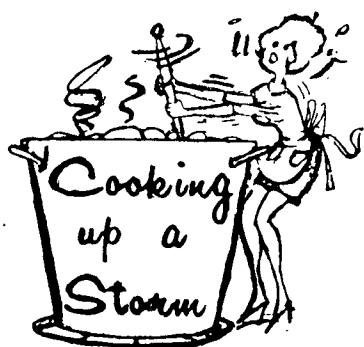

The board also approved a request from Whitfield Timber Co. for a right-of-way across the same section. The company requested the right-of-way because it is removing timber on privately-owned land nearby.

In personnel matters, the board approved the resignation of Linda Emmel, a physical education teacher at Hancock North Central; employed Melvin Douglas Nacaise as a physical education teacher at Gulfview Elementary; and employed substitute teachers for the district for the 1984-85 school year.

Also employed were Stuart Waltman and Allen Spence as substitute janitors at Hancock North Central; George DeJurnette as assistant bus mechanic for Hancock North Central; Linda Keating as an Adult Education Program teacher; and Vivian Kerner as a substitute teacher aide for a special education class at Hancock North Central.

Mrs. Keating's employment was approved pending state funding. Waltman was also employed as vocational bus driver.

The board went into executive session with the district's administrators to discuss additional personnel matters but took no action.

For a delicious, easily made and highly "keepable" dessert or tea time treat, I am especially fond of meringues, small or large as the occasion warrants.

From the tiny, dropped-from-a-teaspoon meringue kisses to the larger shells or "vacherins" made of meringues piled one atop the other, then filled with ice cream or fruit, meringues are a special end to a special meal. And the medium sized meringues, which I use most often, are excellent "cases" for fresh fruits or ice creams or sherbert.

And, they're so easy to make; they freeze well, and you can even take the shells straight from the freezer, fill with ice cream, and act like a "hostess with the mostest" even when unexpected guests have found you with nothing else spectacular or even noteworthy on hand. I often make small meringues, to be embellished then or at a later time with a generous dollop of sour cream and a topping of a fresh strawberry or sliced peach or so, whatever's on hand and suits my fancy at the time.

The secret of perfect meringue is to add the sugar TO the beaten egg whites ever so gradually, then beat until it looks and feels oh-so-satin and smooth that, as my old family cook's scribbled notes advise, you can draw a line through the middle with a spatula and you'll have two "walls" of firm meringue on either side!

Her further instructions: "Beat till it hurts" - your hand, not the meringue. (She couldn't abide what she called the "New fangled machines" - and I am somewhat like her, I'd much rather beat or chop or slice many things by hand than face the clean-up of the blender or mixer or what have you. It's good exercise for your hands, anyway.)

A few more words - it's best to start meringues in a cold oven, and let the oven heat gradually, for meringues should really "dry out," not cook. And, I always "save out" a few spoonfuls in case one of the smaller meringues, or the larger one, whichever I'm making, breaks - I just glue it back together with the excess meringue, and I'm the only one who knows - I hope! So, here's:

MERINGUE SHELLS

6 egg whites
Dash (¼ tsp.) salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1 to 1½ cups sugar
1 Tbsp. vinegar

Add salt to the egg whites and beat until very firm and stiff. Slowly, slowly fold in the sugar, and when very well blended, add the vinegar and vanilla.

Cover a cookie sheet with well buttered brown paper, and drop the shells from a spoon on the paper. Place in cold oven, then turn the oven to 250 degrees, and bake for an hour and a half. Cool thoroughly, then fill with fruit or ice cream or fruit with sour cream or whipped cream atop - very easy and versatile!

Consumers should take a close look at what, where and how they are buying food.

Families with teens know it isn't easy to satisfy their hunger pangs.

The growth of fast food chains may be due in part to the teenager's taste for food like pizza, hamburgers, chicken and tacos.

It is important in planning total food purchases to see that teens, children and the entire family have a balanced diet that includes the basic four food groups - mild, vegetables, fruits, meats, breads and cereals.

These foods form the foundation of a good diet. Purchase these essentials first, then add sweets as the budget allows to round out appetites.

Most children and teenagers generally prefer snack food to regular meals. So make a special effort to supply nourishing snack foods and encourage youngsters to eat a variety of wholesome foods.

What children like to eat and what they do eat depends on what they are accustomed to eating, including food habits of their own and their parents.

Set a good example for a child. Provide a wide variety of foods and plan snacks as part of total food needs. Any food eaten within two hours before a meal may interfere with the appetite for that meal.

Basic foods that make tasty, desirable snacks include milk, fruit-flavored mild drinks, fruit juices, raw vegetable, fruits, meat or cheese cubes, peanuts, popcorn and whole grain wafers.

Choose basic foods for snack or refreshment time for all age groups. Soft drinks, candies and other concentrated sweets have little food value and do not promote good dental health.

They are also the most expensive snacks.

Keep milk and fruit juice on hand to quench thirst. They are more nutritious and more economical.

Ice Cream and puddings are also good choices. Remember, dry pudding mix prepared at home usually cost less than individual snack pack cans.

Also, instant nonfat dry milk can stretch the budget.

Milk and cookies or crackers make a nutritious snack. Oatmeal, raisin, graham, molasses and peanut butter cookies are generally more nutritious than many of the other kinds, and less expensive.

Unsweetened ready-to-eat cereal makes a good snack. Don't forget toast sticks, perhaps spread with peanut butter or topped with a cheese slice and broiled. Use the stale bread - it improves in flavor and texture when toasted.

Use cheese, eggs and peanut butter as meat alternatives for snacks. For a new slant, try keeping a variety tray in your refrigerator that includes slices of meat, sticks of cheese, celery stuffed with peanut butter, cherry tomatoes and carrots.

The possibilities for nutritious snacks are limited only by the imagination. Snacking per se is not detrimental to health unless "empty calorie" snacks - those with little nutritive value - replace other nutritious foods.

Unwise selection of snacks means bad food habits and higher food bills.

A SPINAL CURVATURE CAN SAP YOUR HEALTH

Scientific Chiropactic gained much knowledge regarding the causes and correction of spinal curvatures. Curvatures of the spine can be so gross that one can easily see the person is twisted. Others are very slight, but many curvatures are responsible for sickly children and poor health in adults. A curvature of the spine shows the adult person down and saps away his energy and strength and even his resistance, making him always feel tired, fatigued, and robbing him of much good health and the long life he should enjoy. Chiropactic research has brought out the technical skills necessary to correct the majority of these spinal curvatures. As a rule, children no longer need to go through life with a crooked back, and adults, too, can have the structural stability of their spines restored. Correction of these conditions helps to bring forth a surge of new pep and vitality, energy and strength which go to make up the ingredient of good health.

Space Shuttle astronaut candidates visit NSTL

Seventeen Space Shuttle astronaut candidates visited the National Space Technology Laboratories Sept. 10 as part of their training program.

The astronaut candidates were selected by NASA in May and they reported to NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston in June to begin a year-long program of training and evaluation. Successful candidates will then begin training assignments leading to selection for Space Shuttle flight crews.

Seven of the astronaut candidates are designated as pilots and 10 as mission specialists. Three of the mission specialist candidates are women and one pilot candidate is Hispanic.

NASA received 4,934 applications and 128 applicants were interviewed and given medical examinations at Johnson during the selection process.

At NSTL the group was welcomed by Roy Estess, deputy director. Estess briefed the group on NSTL's history and missions. Following the overview briefing the group toured the NSTL Earth Resources Laboratory computer center with Sidney Whitley, chief, Sensor and Data Systems Group. Following lunch, the astronaut candidates toured the Space Shuttle Test Complex accompanied by Boyce Mix, Space Shuttle Office resident manager.

ETV Brief

NAZI TRICKS

The six-part comedy series "Private Schulz" will be rebroadcast on "Masterpiece Theatre" at 9 p.m., Sundays, beginning Sept. 16 on Mississippi Educational Television. It was first presented on ETV in 1983.

"Private Schulz" tells the story of Nazi Germany's true-to-life Operation Bernhard, an attempt to mess up England's World War II economy by flooding the country with thousands of forged currency notes.

Michael Elphick stars in the title role as a lowly SS clerk whose flair for fraud leads to the outrageous plan. Ian Richardson portrays the imperious SS major who takes credit for Private Schulz's zany ideas.

Former "Doctor Who" producer Philip Hinchcliffe was producer; Jack Pulman, who adapted "I, Claudius" for "Masterpiece Theatre," wrote the script.

Chad Colley, National Commander Disabled American Veterans, 1984-85

Triple amputee elected to head Disabled Veterans

Merely surviving after a Viet Cong land mine ripped both legs and an arm from his body just wasn't enough for Chad Colley.

He wanted a full life. Handicapping war wounds, no matter how severe, weren't going to stand in the way of this Arkansas businessman who has been elected national commander of the 900,000-member Disabled American Veterans.

The determination that sets off life's winners was obvious in a letter Colley wrote to his wife, Betty Ann, just three days after he was nearly killed.

"Even though I'm banged up pretty bad, I'm still me," he wrote from a hospital bed in Vietnam. "I can put my loss of limbs into an asset. I have a big challenge to undertake now. I'll need your help - not your sympathy...By all means, don't start feeling sorry for me. I'm feeling sorry for those who didn't make it."

A surprisingly up-beat tone for a man who'd just lost three limbs, a man who still faced the danger of death! But, speaking of the Viet Cong, he joked, "It's funny that these people didn't realize how tough I am."

Colley will need that good-humored optimism and that winning determination as he leads the DAV, America's third largest veterans' organization, during the coming year.

"The heat's on to cut veterans' programs," he explained. "With powerful members of both political parties demanding cuts in federal spending, including programs for disabled vets, we're going to have a battle on our hands no matter who wins or loses in the November elections."

"I'm determined to make sure the Disabled American Veterans wins that battle. The plan is to build our membership strength, passing the million-member mark as soon as possible. And we're going to make the DAV's service and legislative programs even more effective than they've already proven to be."

That kind of steel-willed outlook has always been part of Colley's buoyant personality. He credits an active, happy childhood in a close, loving family as the root of his spirited disposition. Deep religious values also played a role.

While studying math at North Georgia College, he quickly became a campus leader, listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities.

As a senior, he received the coveted All Sports Award. And when he left the college, he was honored as a Distinguished Military Graduate, and received a commission in 1966.

July 21, 1968, found Colley leading a company of 101st Airborne Division men on a mission 45 miles northwest of Saigon when a land mine explosion threw the young lieutenant into the air. He remembers that he felt no shock or horror after falling back into the crater left by the blast; he was only glad he was still alive.

At a military hospital in Vietnam, his right leg was removed above the knee, his left leg at the hip socket, and his left arm below the elbow.

But a year later, Colley was working as a real estate broker. Since then, his career has taken him to the positions of sales manager for the largest home builder in western Arkansas and loan department manager for a federal savings & loan association.

Today, he owns and operates a mobile home and land development company near Fort Smith, Ark., doing business throughout the northern part of the state. But he plans to live in Washington, D.C. during his one-year term at the helm of the nonprofit DAV.

Religious, civic, social and political involvements have always characterized Colley's active life. Recognition of his contributions in these areas are numerous.

The Daughters of the American Revolution awarded him their Honor Medal. The U.S. Jaycees recognized him as a finalist in their national oratorical contest. And he's just completing his fourth year as a board director on the governing body of his hometown, Barling, Ark.

But, perhaps the most meaningful recognition came in 1970 when the DAV honored Colley as the national Outstanding Disabled Veteran of the Year.

With his election as DAV national commander, Colley replaces Dennis A. Joyner, who also lost three limbs in the Vietnam War. Joyner paid Colley a great tribute as he turned the gavel over to him.

"Able-bodied or disabled, young or old, veteran or nonveteran, the wide spectrum of our population can find a common identity with this man," said Joyner. "Chad's positive outlook, his productive record, and the sheer weight of his example have strongly influenced the lives of everyone with whom he's ever had contact."

Bay School Board laments loss of experienced teacher

By DENA BISNETTE

The resignation of a veteran Bay St. Louis teacher might have been prevented if better communication had existed among administrators in the Bay St. Louis Municipal School District, school board officials feel.

Peggy J. Tedford, a chorus teacher who worked at both Bay High and North Bay Elementary, submitted a letter of resignation Aug. 29, according to Superintendent J.D. McCullough.

McCullough said she told him she was taking another job to be near her husband who works in Pascagoula.

That reason, however, was not specifically stated in the letter, which McCullough read to the board, and Bay High Principal Robert Magee contends that she resigned because she did not want to spend part of her day at Bay Junior High.

Magee and other administrators were present at the board meeting at the request of the superintendent because some board members wanted to question them about the resignation.

"That woman taught in this district for 21 years," said board member Betty Diboll, "and I feel by losing her we're losing a teacher who shouldn't have been lost, especially at this time of year."

"I don't feel a full effort was made to keep her. We need to do something to keep the good teachers like her from leaving the district," she said.

According to Magee, a schedule for the district's chorus instructors placed Mrs. Tedford at Bay Junior High for part of the day.

"She told me she did not want to go to the junior high," Magee said.

"We thought it would be good to send her to the junior high since that program is a feeder program to the classes she was teaching at the high school," North Bay Principal Roger James explained.

He added that the schedules had been worked out during the summer, and the decision to send Mrs. Tedford to the junior high school was partially based on the schedule of a second chorus teacher.

James said the second teacher was originally expected to work at the junior high. However, the schedule arranged for her did not include time for the junior high class and it was decided to alter Mrs. Tedford's schedule instead.

"I talked to her about the schedule and the next day I heard on the street that she was going to resign. Her letter was submitted the day after that," Magee said.

Mrs. Tedford was not present at the meeting and could not be reached for comment.

Magee said she had not attended any orientation meetings or classes after

Aug. 29 and said he "heard on the street" that she is teaching elsewhere.

The board members chose to take no legal action against Mrs. Tedford, whose teaching certificate could be revoked for failure to fulfill the conditions of her contract between Aug. 29 and the date the board approved her resignation.

Board president Walter Turcott commented that he felt the situation could probably have been avoided had there been better communication among the administrators involved in the scheduling process.

Several board members said they had heard of the problem in conversation with people unconnected with the school district, and said they should have heard about the resignation from administrators instead.

A replacement for Mrs. Tedford is now being sought, Magee said.

In other business, the board approved a contract with Pitco, Inc. for maintenance of Waveland Elementary School; hired a part-time secretary for the food service program to replace a worker who did not return after last year; approved an emergency certificate application for physical education teacher Barney Nicaise; and appointed a committee to study the possibility of adding a computer to the district's business office.

The board will hold a special meeting at 7 p.m. Sept. 17 to discuss future building and renovation projects.

Port and Harbor discusses water for Cadet marina

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is looking at ways to supply water to a proposed marina at Bayou Cadet.

At their Monday meeting, commission members discussed the possibility of extending a water supply from Terry Ladner's ice house to the proposed marina.

Engineer James Chiniche presented the commission with two schematic drawings Monday to illustrate his findings on the possibility.

Originally, it was believed that the water supply could serve both an ice house and a marina, but Chiniche has found that the supply is not adequate.

An alternate water supply at the Bayou Cadet area where construction of the marina is proposed is sandy, the commission was told.

The commission has authorized its director, James DeBlanc, to look into the costs of building a replacement water well if further examination of Chiniche's findings indicate that one is needed.

Also meeting with the board were representatives of Gulf Cities Laboratories, a soil testing firm, and Advanced Development Inc. president Michael Smith.

Gulf Cities, under contract to perform soil tests on the apron project at Stennis Airport, had submitted a bill to the county for the test, but Smith, who is in charge of engineering for the project, disputed the amount Gulf Cities should be paid.

He alleged that Gulf Cities is requesting payment for more tests than the project contractor needed.

Tony Caranna, attorney for Gulf Cities, alleged that Smith has disallowed work that was actually done.

After discussing a possible settlement of the bill with both parties, the commission took the matter under advisement until the bill has been revised with more information. Action on payment was expected at the commission's Wednesday night meeting.

The Wednesday meeting was called to discuss the assessment of liquidated or actual damages against contractors on overdue projects at Stennis Airport.

Hancock County escaped trusty back in jail

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A trusty who walked away from the Hancock County Jail Thursday evening was captured in Gulfport on Tuesday, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson said, "Calvin Ray Prichett was observed walking along Gulfport's Beach by off duty Waveland Patrolman Jimmy Varnell. Varnell telephoned the sheriff's office and we notified the Gulfport Police Department who apprehended Prichett and he is now in the Hancock County jail."

Prichett was scheduled to appear in Hancock County Circuit Court for a hearing on Monday in connection with stolen truck charges.

Peterson said Prichett now has been additionally charged with jail escape.

Wastewater district OKs budget increases

By DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District has approved an amended 1984 budget and estimated figures on its 1985 operation.

The amended budget for fiscal year 1984, which ends Sept. 30, lists a total of $255,186 in revenues and $255,186 in expenditures.

The budget for fiscal year 1985 shows $276,988 in estimated revenues and expenditures. Revenues include a $41,762 cash balance left from 1984.

The major increase in estimated expenditures for 1985 includes $51,000 in capital outlay. In 1984, capital outlay for the district totaled $18,000.

Other changes include an increase from $42,000 to $60,000 in employee salaries; $10,100 to $14,400 in benefits and taxes; an additional $15,000 for vehicles expenses; and additional laboratory, utility, telephone and office expenses.

Both budgets were approved without discussion at a brief meeting Wednesday.

Other business included a discussion of contracts related to the district's proposal to implement a sewage treatment system with a single discharge point in Edwards Bayou.

According to Ray Eaton of Eaton-Lewis Partnership, the district's engineering firm, a contract for the first phase of the project is ready to be advertised for bids as soon as funds are obtained.

The first phase involves upgrading the Bay St. Louis sewage lagoon and all the specifications for the project have been completed, Eaton said.

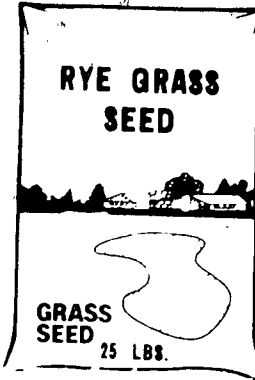

The district has applied for an Environmental Protection Agency Grant to fund 75 percent of the project, with the rest of the cost to come from local funds.

Eaton also told district officials that work begins next week on the design for the second phase, which consists of constructing a system to transport sewage from the Bay lagoon to the Waveland Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Pass High French teacher completes Rotary seminar

Mrs. Linda Jordan, French teacher at Pass Christian High School, recently returned from a four week stay in France.

Mrs. Jordan was one of 19 teachers to attend a three-week long seminar for American French teachers and French teachers of English at the Chateau Lafayette in Chavaniac, a town near Le Puy in Auvergne.

The chateau Lafayette is the birthplace of the Marquis de Lafayette, hero of the American Revolution.

The tuition for the seminar was provided by Rotary District 684, which encompasses South Mississippi and southeastern Louisiana.

LINDA JORDAN

The Center of French American Friendship at Chavaniac is sponsored by the Foundation Lafayette which owns the Chateau.

The foundation is administered by a board of trustees, the majority of whom are past officers of Rotary International. This was the seventh annual seminar to be held at Chavaniac.

The purpose of the workshop was improvement in the spoken language and enhancement of the knowledge of contemporary life in each of the two countries.

Participants shared mutual information, the Americans teaching the French one day, the French teaching the Americans the next day.

One single language was spoken by the whole group each day, one day English, the next French.

Activities were led by two university professors, one French and one American, who also met daily with the French in one group and the Americans in another for regular language practice.

While at the seminar, participants went on numerous field-trips around the region of Auvergne which included visits to parks, chateaux, churches, and historic monuments. There were also several dinners with local Rotary Clubs.

At the end of the workshop, Mrs. Jordan stayed for several days in Vichy and Orleans, France.

The homestay part of the program was provided by Rotary Clubs in France for the Americans and in America for the French.

In Orleans Mrs. Jordan stayed in the home of the president of the Orleans' Club, Philippe Jourdain.

Beach area dwellers not prepared for hurricanes, FEMA experts say

Lure of the good life in a cottage or condominium near the beach has drawn millions of Americans into a trap that could kill them, a U.S. House of Representatives subcommittee in Washington, D.C. was told recently.

Too few beach area dwellers realize the hazard they will face if a severe hurricane strikes. Even fewer have given serious thought to their safety, the panel was told.

Samuel W. Speck of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) told the subcommittee on science and technology an estimated 34 million people now living along coastlines from Texas to Maine have never experienced a hurricane.

"And every year thousands of people continue to move into hurricane-prone areas," Speck said.

His comments came during a hearing in which Neil Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center, predicted that hundreds or even thousands of people could be killed unless they are prepared to protect themselves when a hurricane comes.

Frank, along with weather experts, has repeatedly expressed concern that many people have become apathetic because it has been some time since a severe hurricane has struck.

This apathy has shown itself in recent hurricanes, FEMA officials said. Studies have shown that as many as half of those in the likely path of an oncoming hurricane have failed to evacuate when warned to do so by authorities.

"That kind of apathy can kill you," Speck said.

"It is not a gamble I would want to take because if you are wrong, the consequences are absolute."

Speck told the subcommittee his agency, which coordinates federal recovery efforts in the wake of disasters, is working to determine the level of risk and develop preparedness plans for 22 identified high risk areas in the nation.

Targeted areas are Tampa Bay, Fla.; the Georgia coast; Galveston-Houston, Tex.; New Orleans, La.; southern Florida; the Florida-Alabama-Mississippi Gulf Coast; Hawaii; New Jersey; Long Island, N.Y.; Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands; Beaumont-Port Arthur, Tex.; Charleston-Myrtle Beach, S.C.; Corpus Christi, Tex.; Norfolk-Virginia Beach-Newport News, Va.; Buzzards Bay-Cape Cod, Mass.; Rehoboth Beach, Del.; Ocean City, Md.; the Connecticut coast; Narragansett Bay, R.I.; Guam; Samoa and the Pacific Trust Territory.

Studies currently are complete or underway in 16 of these target areas. Other studies are expected to get underway shortly, Speck said.

Frank noted that despite improved forecasting techniques, meteorologists rarely can give more than 12 hours' notice that a hurricane will strike a particular community. Twelve or even 24 hours isn't enough time to evacuate most larger coastal communities, he warned.

"I fear we are going to pay the price one of these days in the form of hundreds or even thousands of lives if there is no proper preparation," Frank said.

Based on these concerns, FEMA officials offered safety tips for those millions who one day may face a hurricane. The rules center around preparedness and what to do when a hurricane comes.

—Recheck your supply of boards, tools, batteries, non-perishable foods and other equipment you will need when a hurricane strikes.

—When you hear the first tropical storm advisory, listen for future messages. This will prepare you for a hurricane emergency well in advance of the issuance of watches and warnings.

—When your area is under a hurricane watch, continue normal activities but stay tuned to radio or television for all NOAA National Weather Service advisories.

Remember that a hurricane watch means possible danger; if the danger materializes, a hurricane warning will be issued.

When your area receives a hurricane warning, you should:

—Plan your arrangements before the storm arrives to avoid the last-minute hurry that might leave you marooned or unprepared.

—Leave low-lying areas that may be swept by high tides or storm waves.

—Moore your boat securely before the storm arrives, or evacuate it to a designated safe area.

—Board up windows or protect them with storm shutters or tape.

—Secure outdoor objects that might be blown away. Harmless items hurled by high wind become missiles of destruction.

—Store drinking water in clean bathtubs, jugs, bottles and cooking utensils. Your town's water supply may be contaminated by flooding or damaged by hurricane floods.

—Check your battery-power equipment—radios and flashlights—and emergency cooking facilities.

—Keep your automobile fueled but stay in your home if it is sturdy and on high ground. If not, move to a designated shelter and stay there until the storm is passed.

—If the calm storm center passes directly overhead, there will be a lull in the wind lasting from a few minutes to a half an hour or more. But you should remember that at the other side of the storm's eye the winds rise very rapidly to hurricane force, coming from the opposite direction.

LAST CONFEDERATES

A new Mississippi ETV-produced documentary tells an uncommon story of emigrants, those who chose to leave their native America for a foreign country.

In "The Last Confederates," filmed on location in Brazil, Brazilian citizens who are direct descendants of American Confederates tell how their defeated forefathers fled their homeland for Brazil after the Civil War in hopes of a better life for themselves and their families—ironically the same ambition of many immigrants who have chosen the United States as their adopted country.

"The Last Confederates," with original music by Luigi Zaninelli and narration by Joseph Campanella, can be seen at 9 p.m., Friday, Sept. 15 on Mississippi ETV with a rebroadcast at 10 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 19.

"It's a historical anomaly," said Edward Cohen, producer/director/writer of "The Last Confederates." "You ordinarily think about immigrants coming to the United States; although it has happened at other times, it's an unusual concept; emigrants leaving the United States."

Many of these emigrants went to Brazil on impulse, fueled by anger, bitterness and defeat.

"They had gone through four years of war and returned home to face what they felt was a new kind of war being visited upon them—Reconstruction," said Cohen.

"The South was an occupied country with federal troops there, just like a defeated nation. So emigration was a popular topic in the South. The ones who felt the most bitter decided that they would rather leave the country than continue living in the South."

It is not known exactly how many Confederates went to Brazil. Estimates range from 8,000 to 40,000. It is also estimated that at least half or more returned to the United States.

Colonies were formed throughout Brazil, but only one colony achieved significant success: in the area around Sao Paulo in the South of Brazil. The climate was temperate, the land was good and it was possible to get crops to market.

Here—in the city of Americana—descendants of the Confederate emigrants tell their stories of their ancestors and their struggles to settle in a new land.

They talk about their parents, grandparents and great-grandparents and their feelings about the United States. Even though many have never been there, today, three generations later, they still feel a strange link to the United States, and their "American-ness" is evident in their lives, from their customs to their American accents.

"We got so many requests that we decided to extend the opportunity to a year-round program," explained Capt. William J. Diffley, executive director of Battleship Memorial Park.

"We just couldn't handle all the requests during August—and we didn't want to tell anybody no."

Diffley says Battleship officials have designed a colorful patch which they will offer to scouts who have spent the night on board.

Troop leaders who would like to take a group of scouts to the USS Alabama should write or call for an overnight accommodations kit. Contact Scout Coordinator c/o USS Alabama, P.O. Box 65, Mobile, Ala. 36601 or call (205) 433-2703.

Hard contact expected in Tiger-Pirate clash

Bay High fans can expect to see a hard-hitting game when the Tigers face Pass Christian Friday, according to Tiger Head Coach Cleveland Williams.

Both teams lost their season openers last week, with the Tigers defeated 21-0 by Stone County and the Pirates losing 30-0 to D'Iberville.

"We are expecting hard contact and mixed emotions in this game, which is an old rivalry between the two ball clubs," Williams said.

The Tigers will be facing a quick, aggressive Pirate line with good balance, he explained.

He also said the Pirates' signal caller, Joey Rogers, is a good passer and scrambler.

Bay High's preparation for the game has included some offensive and defensive changes designed to strengthen the team.

Some of the key Tiger players are injured, including starting fullback Willie Lewis, a casualty of last week's game.

Bay High's lineup for this week will include a lot of young, inexperienced athletes, the coach said.

Although they are inexperienced, Williams said his younger players are ready for Friday night's game.

"They want to play and they have the determination to go out there and fight until the last whistle blows," he said.

In spite of last week's defeat, the team has been showing a mental and physical attitude in practice that the coach terms "considerably high."

Probable offensive starters for Friday include Jeffery Smith, quarterback; Trace McRaney, fullback; Matt Fairconnetue, running back; Richard Whavers, wingback; Eddie Nelson, split end; Geja Carter, tight end; Phillip Hart and Jerry Head, tackles; Kevin James and Patrick Whavers, guards; and Butch Pierce, center.

On defense, players expected to start include Carter and Head, ends; James and Patrick Whavers, tackles; Greg Necale, nose guard; McRaney and Bennie Reyes, linebackers; Richard Whavers, strong safety; Nelson, free safety; and Smith and Dennis Dear, cornerbacks.

The game starts at 7:30 at Tiger Stadium.

Pirates to visit Tigers on Friday

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Pass Christian Pirates high school football team will be seeking victory number one for the season Saturday when they play Bay High's Tigers in Bay St. Louis.

The Pirates under the direction of first year head mentor Alton Wright were unsuccessful last week against a strong D'Iberville.

Wright said, "We came out of the D'Iberville contest with just a few bruises and slight ankle sprains and all members should be ready for Friday action against Bay High."

"I know Cleveland (Williams) at Bay High has had some injury problems and will be moving players to different positions from their opening game last week against Stone County," Wright added.

The Pass mentor continued, "We plan on using the same attack as we did against D'Iberville with maybe a few surprises. We do plan on possibly running the ball a little more, as I felt we tried to pass too much against D'Iberville."

"We reviewed the film of Friday's game and saw a few areas where we needed to make adjustments and should be ready for Friday," Wright said.

Pass suited-out 25 players for the D'Iberville contest and may have one or two more this week.

Wright stated, "I have had one starter from last year who stopped football, but has returned to the squad. He will have to sit out two games according to my rules. There are also four or five others who will possibly join the squad to add strength to the team."

In the D'Iberville game, Pass Christian's starters played both defense and offense and held the Warriors until late in the second quarter before they earned a first down.

Wright said, "We have a very good team and are looking forward to a winning season."

Kick-off is Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Tiger Stadium in Bay St. Louis.

Rocks readying for replay of season opening victory

By TOM ACKERMAN
Echo Correspondent

Coming off their first win of the season, and their first opening-game win in two years, the St. Stanislaus Rockchaws have got to be feeling mighty good this week.

And for Rocks' head coach Vernon Powell, it was a sweet win indeed! "It's always nice to start with a big win," said the coach, with obvious pleasure at the remembrance of last Friday's victory over cross-county rival Hancock North Central, 12-10.

"The thrill of victory—what a feeling," he said again, as if to pinch himself to make sure it was really true. For the coach, it was his first opening-game win since taking over the helm of the Rocks two years ago.

"Our only problem now," the coach continued, getting back to reality, "is staying in the winning bracket. The games don't get easier from here on, they get harder."

And the Rocks' most immediate problem is the St. John Eagles, slated to meet the Rockchaws at home this Friday. With nothing more to go on than one scouted game last Saturday against St. Paul of Mobile, Ala., the Rocks are playing their cards close to the table.

"St. John looked real good last week," Powell commented, noting that the Eagles won 10-0, and they were playing one of the top-rated teams in Alabama. "They've got several good defensive and offensive personnel, and they do the things they do very well," Powell continued. "Our feeling is, in order to win, we've got to control the ball."

Besides having two exceptional receivers, and an outstanding quarterback, St. John has a lot of depth. "Their quarterback hurt his knee last week," Powell said, but he'll probably play. But if he doesn't, they've got a sophomore who can come in and take up the slack."

Of course, the Rocks also do a lot of their own taking up the slack.

In the opener against the Hawks, junior running back Todd Thriffley was taking up slack all over the field. On offense, he connected for one 36-yard pass and rushed eight times for 70 yards.

And on defense, he made a key interception and also stopped Hancock's try at a two-point conversion. Perhaps the most important play of the game! "We were real pleased with Todd," the coach commented. "He had a real good game."

"Of course," the coach continued, "the offensive line did an excellent job opening up the holes for him on rushing."

Also playing both sides of the field, senior quarterback Matt Scardino did a pretty fair job of taking up some slack in his department. Besides doubling on defense, Scardino subbed briefly on punt returns, and then in his specialty, 96 percent of his passes were on target, and two of them were good for TD's.

And on those two pass completions, junior split end David Zanca, and first-year junior tight end Arthur Wynne were on the money for the scores.

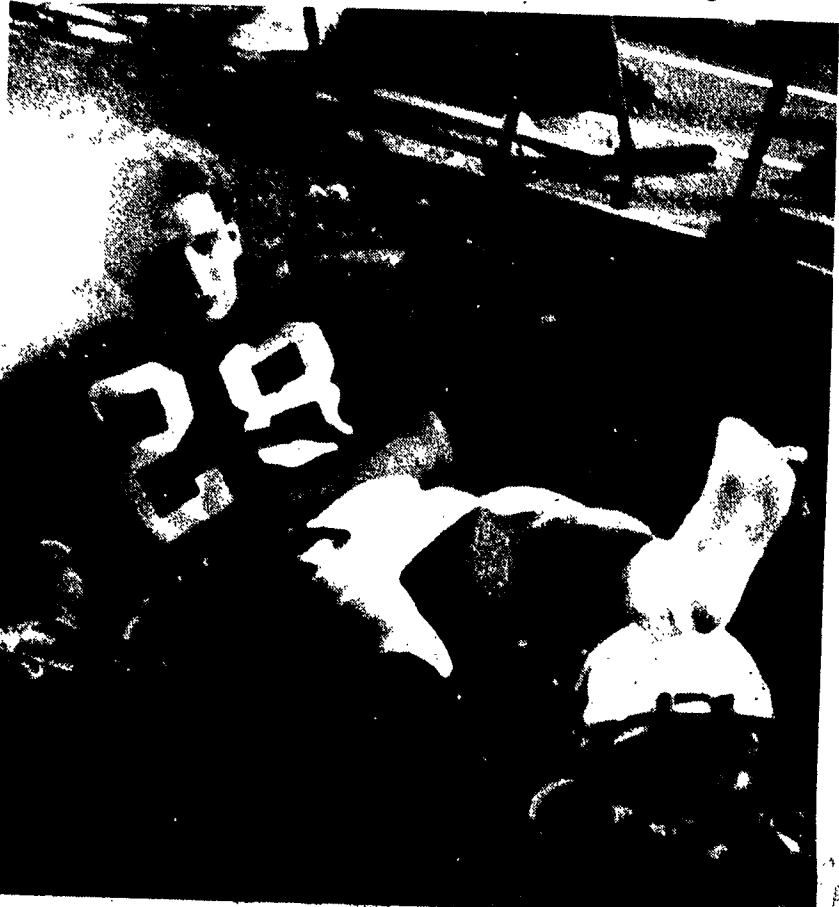

And in what turned out to be the winning margin, senior kicker Matt Spotorino split the end posts on two PAT's and averaged 32.1 yards per punt.

In readying for what the Rocks hope will be a replay of last Friday, some adjustments may have to be made because of injuries. Although the coach was careful not to specify who was hurting, he did mention that bruises were causing some problems. "We'll have to see how the bruises affect us before we make any changes," the coach said. "We'll make the final decision on Friday."

If all goes according to plan, the Rocks will stay with the same starting line: at quarterback, Matt Scardino; running backs Todd Thriffley and Mark Logan; at end, receivers, David Zanca and Arthur Wynne; Jordan Bradford and Charles Schull at guard; backs Chuck Yarborough and Troy Flynn; tackles Mike Yarborough, Kirk Exnicious and John Ladner; Jimmy Thriffley at defensive tackle; and Clay Leyser at center.

In spite of the fact that St. John is in the new AA classification and SSC in the 4A group, Powell isn't counting his chickens too soon. "In football," he said, "there are no advantages. Anybody can beat anybody else on any given night. But this Friday, we're going to be ready for the Eagles."

TIME OUT—Rockchaw Split End David Zanca takes a breather to rest a strained leg after he snagged a touchdown aerial in SSC's 14-12 victory over Hancock North Central Friday. Zanca later returned to the game. (Photo by John Falcon)

Eagle, Bulldog kickers set records

Southern Mississippi place-kicker Rex Banks had to overcome a "pretty serious case of the shakes" in pre-game warm-ups before what turned out to be a record performance by the young sophomore in last Saturday's opening game against the Georgia Bulldogs.

"I was a little bit sick in the stomach before the game and my knees were a little shaky when I went on the field for the first field goal," the Vancleave, Miss. product said Sunday. "That first one really helped my confidence and it got better each time I went out there."

Bank, all five feet, nine and a half inches, and 187 pounds of him, zipped through four fielders for the afternoon, setting an all-time USM school record. He surpassed the efforts of such predecessors as Ray Guy, John Laird and Steve Clark, all of whom had three in a game.

Combined with four successful attempts by Georgia All-America candidate Kevin Butler, Banks' four earned the two specialists an NCAA record for a single game. The previous high for one game was seven, and it happened seven times before.

Butler's efforts also earned him several new Georgia marks and Southeastern Conference records. He now has 58 field goals and 275 kicking points to his credit.

"I had been talking to Steve Clark all week and he kept telling me how important making that first one good would be to me," Banks commented. "He was exactly right. That one really helped."

"Yes, I was aware the fourth one would set a school record if I made it," he replied to a question. "But that didn't bother me a bit. No, I did not know about the national record until later on Saturday night."

Banks' efforts were for 30 yards in the first quarter, 48 stripes in the second period, 38 yards in the third and 33 yards in the fourth. Butler was good from the 23, 43 and 42 in the second quarter and from the 46 in the fourth.

Banks said there were several reasons for his being nervous but he didn't mention the presence of over 81,000 fans in Georgia's Sanford Stadium.

"I missed the only try I had last season and I didn't have a good spring game, and those were my main reasons for being jittery," he said. "Plus it was the first game of the year and all that."

"I would gladly trade all four of the field goals for a win over Georgia," the right-footed sidewinder continued. "But I'm also happy I didn't miss one that would have cost us the game. My main purpose is to help the team."

Banks is now 4-for-5 in his brief collegiate career. He was 17-for-25 on field goals in his four years as Vancleave High's punter and place-kicker. The 20-year-old business administration major was elected the Gulf Coast school's most valuable player and most valuable kicker.

KARL IN BOXING WIN

Wayne Karl, son of Diane and Gary Karl, scored a season-opening, first round TKO victory over DeWayne Schmitt of Forest Saturday night.

In addition, Karl is training for participation in the National Silver Gloves Championships in Little Rock, Ark. in January.

OUR BOILER WATER IS 10,000 TIMES PURER THAN TAP WATER. BECAUSE IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

Here in the Plant Daniel laboratory, we work to ensure the quality of the water used in the boiler system.

We make five hundred gallons a minute of the purest water possible. We de-mineralize our water so thoroughly that it's 10,000 times purer than the water that comes out of your tap at home.

Why are we such sticklers about water quality? Because the water we boil makes the steam that drives the turbines that generate your electricity. By keeping contaminants to an absolute minimum, we reduce the possibility of corrosion problems and system breakdowns. Our plant runs at top-flow. And you — the customer — get a dependable supply of electricity.

My job carries a lot of responsibility. But I don't mind. In fact, I like it. Because it really makes a difference. And that makes it worthwhile to me.

PRC's Proulx named Player of The Week

The Jones Bobcats have taken up where they left off in the fall of '83. Disappointingly the Pearl River Wildcats have too.

Jones Junior College wound up winning the Mississippi Junior College Championship last November. Here in the early going of the '84 season the Bobcats have already put together a 2-0 mark with convincing wins over Northwest and East Mississippi.

The PRC Wildcats, on the other hand, posted a disappointing 4-5-1 ledger in '83 and after two weeks of play here in September, still have not registered a win.

This Saturday night in the Dobie Holden Stadium on the Pearl River campus the two arch-rivals will tie up again. It's time for the annual "Cat Fight."

The annual Pearl River-Jones catfight incites a rabid rallying of support from the two south Mississippi junior colleges. As a rule, the stands are generally packed and the players dig a little deeper for strength when these rivals meet.

Of the 50 games played, Pearl River has won 25, Jones 23 and there have been two ties. Last year, at Ellisville, the Bobcats had a 17 point fourth quarter rally to beat the Wildcats 24-14. The year before, PRC won 28-16, and in '81, the two played to a 30-30 tie.

The Jones Bobcats, under head coach Sim Cooley, have racked up impressive wins over Northwest (33-7) and East Mississippi (34-7). The Wildcats tied Holmes 14-14 in the season opener and lost to Hinds last week, on the road, 27-21.

"Hinds did a good job with a gambling pressure defense," said J.C. Arban, the Wildcats' head coach. "They took chances and it paid off."

Pearl River led against Hinds, then fell behind 21-14 before tying things up in the fourth quarter. Hinds scored late in the game, after two third down penalties game the Eagles new life on their winning drive.

"We played more aggressive, but we still made mistakes," Arban said. "We must still play more consistent on defense."

Tailback Marvin Houston and strong safety John Henry, both from Poplarville, did not play against Hinds. Center Wes Crayton was hurt early in the game and starting quarterback Chip Lofton, injured his shoulder.

"I think everyone, except Crayton, will be ready this week," Arban said. "To show you the luck we have, offensive guard Greg Ellzey injured his ankle on his way to class Monday and is on crutches."

"Jones will be tough competition this week," Arban said. "It's not going to get any easier. The good thing about this contest is the fact that I don't have to worry about getting the players up for the game."

Captains for this week will be Tommy Lindsey of Hattiesburg, Chip Lofton of Columbia and John Henry of Poplarville.

Player of the week honors for the Hinds game went to fullback Mike Proulx of Bay St. Louis, offensive lineman Randy Byrd of Petal, defensive back Mike Clemons of Theodore, Al, defensive lineman Ricky Price of Bassfield and special teams player David McIvor of Bay St. Louis.

Arban said that Chris Jones, a 6'2" 238 lb. running back from Picayune, who recently transferred from the University of Southern Mississippi, will be ready to see action this week.

"It will be a good football game this week," Arban said. "Even if we are a decided underdog."

LONNIE RAY

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Ladies Tennis Association has begun its fall league play.

The association was formed for 3.5 players and above on the Gulf Coast. Each team has at least eight players.

The competition is based on eight singles matches and four doubles matches. The score for each team is the number of games won in the match, with 136 as the maximum score.

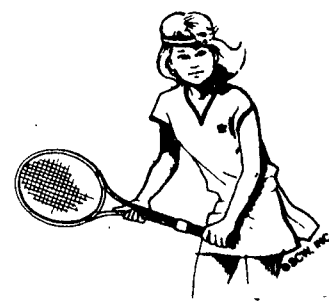

The singles consists of one pro set of eight games and one doubles play three sets.

Teams from Diamondhead, Treasure Oaks in Ocean Springs, Plantation Pines in Long Beach, Bayou Bluff in Gulfport, Pascagoula, and the Gulfport Racquet Club in Gulfport compose this ladies' fall league.

This week Diamondhead beat Plantation Pines at home by the score of 134-40. Bayou Bluff and Gulfport Racquet Club will play at a later date.

Next week Bayou Bluff will be at Treasure Oaks, Gulfport Racquet Club will be at Plantation Pines and Pascagoula at Diamondhead. The Diamondhead Team consists of Mary McDoinnell, captain; Hilda Bourg, Cynthia Allen, Carolyn Burkett, Michele Brown, Ann Heitzmann, Betsy Nolan, Jeanette Purcer, Debra Siefken and Elizabeth Watts.

Plantation Pines players are Dixie Alexander, captain; Norma Gregory, Cheryl High, Jackie Hutcherson, Jo Ann La Rachelle, Pat Melton, Doris Scarborough, Ann Schotzie, Gladys Stevenson, Ann Ward and Emma Williams.

Shoreline Park teen named 'Outstanding'

By DENA BISNETTE

Lonnie Ray of Shoreline Park has been named outstanding swimmer in the 13- and 14-year-old boys' division of the Mississippi State Swimming Association, according to his coach, Mark Bean.

Ray, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Ray, swims with the Mississippi Gulf Coast YMCA-Pepsi Swim Team.

He is also a member of the Southern Association All-Star Team, which includes swimmers from Mississippi and Louisiana, and holds the current state record for the 13-year-old boys' butterfly.

Ray won two events in the Southern Association meet, including the 100-yard butterfly and the 100-yard freestyle.

Bean said Ray is also one of the youngest swimmers who qualified for the YMCA National Swim Meet last month, where he won the 100-yard butterfly, the 100-yard freestyle and the 400-yard medley relay.

He also won three out of five events at the State YMCA Championship Meet, where the Gulf Coast team won the high point trophy for the 13-14 age division.

In addition, he won two individual high point trophies during individual swim meets this year, Bean said.

Before joining the Gulf Coast team, Ray was member of the Golden Triangle Swim League at West Point. The West Point team has held the state championship title for more than 10 years.

Ray is a student at Hancock North Central Junior High, where he is a member of the football team.

USM delayed telecasts hosted by Cox, O'Barr

Four cable systems in the state are scheduled to carry delayed telecasts of University of Southern Mississippi football this season. The telecast will be produced by USM's Broadcasting Services and distributed by AdCable throughout the state.

John Cox returns for his second year as the play-by-play announcer and former Golden Eagle linebacker Rod O'Barr will handle the color commentary.

Cox, USM's assistant sports information director, also hosts the Jim Carmody and M.K. Turk Shows on television and handles play-by-play duties on the USM Basketball Radio Network.

O'Barr was a three-year letterman for the Golden Eagles from 1981-83 and during his career the Birmingham, Ala. native recorded 100 solo tackles and 69 assists and had three interceptions. He developed the reputation of being one of the team's best special teams players (six tackles inside the 20-yard line on kickoffs three seasons).

Registration dates listed for Bay Area Youth Soccer

Registration for the 84-85 Bay Area Youth Soccer season will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 11 at Christ Episcopal Church; 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 12 at St. Claire Catholic School; and 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 17 at Christ Episcopal Church.

"Our program has grown each year. Last year 359 children played in nine age groups culminating with seven teams winning and finishing second in the South Mississippi District and going on to the State Tournament," said Paul Montjoy, Bays president.

"Soccer, which is the most popular sport in the world, is rapidly growing in the United States and Mississippi. Last year there were 11,800 registered players in the State of Mississippi. More and more high schools are starting to build teams and college scholarships have been received by some of the top players from our district," Montjoy noted.

"It is the intent of the league to organize the teams to the extent possible by school while attempting to establish teams relatively equal in ability," he said.

Soccer is divided into two divisions: 1. The State Division, a select, which is a team composed of only top players playing similar teams throughout the state. At this time, our league is not large enough to support such a team without hurting the recreation program.

2. Recreation Division - in this program, teams in various age groupings composed of approximately 15 people each play a schedule of similar teams in our league. Each player on the team in good standing must play one-half of each game.

"Soccer is strictly a volunteer sport in Mississippi by the Mississippi Youth Soccer Association, a volunteer non-profit organization. We are part of the Southern District, the largest in the state in terms of registered players, which includes all the coast counties up through Hattiesburg," Montjoy said.

The cost to play is $15 per child which includes insurance and uniform shirt and socks.

Each player must furnish his or her own shoes and shorts.

"The players who sincerely want to play will not be denied the opportunity because of inability to pay all or part of the registration fee," Montjoy explained.

The Soccer League is open to both girls and boys.

"We urge all parents to assist us in building the South's finest soccer league," he said.

Because nothing penetrates the skin, there's no swelling or redness ... you can even wear makeup immediately after treatment.

A thought for meditation from our pastor, Father Lambert Stack, ST—
"It's possible to work without results, but never will there be results without work."

—Anonymous

Mrs. Buddy Williams, president, has called a 10 a.m. executive board meeting of St. Ann-St. John Altar Society Monday, Sept. 17 in the parish hall.

Mrs. Christian Neubig, Christmas Boutique chairlady, is inviting all interested ladies of the parish to attend a workshop which will immediately follow the meeting Monday, Sept. 17 in the parish hall.

New ideas and scrap material will be appreciated.

Father Pierce O'Connell, ST, visiting pastor, has announced Confirmation instructions will continue each Monday at 7 p.m. in the parish hall until Confirmation Day Nov. 4. Those preparing to receive the Holy Sacrament of Confirmation must attend these classes in order to be Confirmed.

Mrs. John (Sylvia) Yost of New Orleans is winner of a clown doll awarded by Mrs. Mabel Brown on behalf of the Altar Society.

According to Mrs. Patsy Belsome, co-ordinator of religious education for St. Ann-St. John parishes registration for CCD students first through eighth grades is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 23 in the parish hall after the 9:30 a.m. Mass.

Girl Scout registration underway

Registration is currently underway for the 1984-85 Hancock County Girl Scouting program.

Girls from kindergarten through high school are eligible, according to volunteer adult leader Barbara Jones.

Girl Scouting is an informal educational program designed to be a continuous process of learning, Jones said.

"This program involves girls in a series of activities developed to help them become better people," she added.

Girl Scouting programs are grouped on five age levels: a new age level, Daisies, for kindergarten; Brownies, grades 1-3; Juniors, grades 4-6; Cadettes, grades 7-9; and Seniors, grades 10-12.

The troops meet regularly with trained volunteer adult leaders to plan and carry out activities.

"It is through these activities, developed by, with and for girls, that Girl Scouts obtain knowledge and skills, become competent individuals and learn to make decisions and choices," Jones stated. "However, the best of programs need adult volunteers. Men and women are needed as leaders and assistants so that this program can continue to grow," she said.

To volunteer, call Jones at 255-3711.

"THE LAST CONFEDERATES" PREMIERES ON MISSISSIPPI ETV—Joseph Campanella, left, rehearses the narration for Mississippi ETV's new documentary, "The Last Confederates," with Mississippi ETV executive producer Edward Cohen. "The Last Confederates," which covers the immigration of American Confederates to Brazil following the Civil War, can be seen at 9 p.m., Friday, Sept. 14 on Mississippi ETV. It will be rebroadcast at 10 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 19.

ETV Brief

CULT TACTICS

"Moonchild," the award-winning factual drama reenacting one man's journey into and out of the Unification Church, will be telecast at 9 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 13 on Mississippi ETV.

The one-hour program explores the questionable recruiting tactics and indoctrination methods practiced by some cults and simulates the painstaking process of deprogramming.

"Moonchild" explores issues of mind control, brainwashing, personal identity and human vulnerability.

Using real-life deprogrammers and ex-Moonies, "Moonchild" is based on the actual experience of Chris Carlson, a former Moonie who portrays himself in the film.

To make sure that "Moonchild" would be accurate in its portrayal of the Unification Church, producer Anne Makepeace allowed herself to be recruited into Rev. Moon's weekend camp.

"The whole experience was on the borderline between a voluntary stay and forcible detention," she said. "The psychological techniques used to manipulate the recruits were just incredible."

Although she felt that she had a good grip on reality, she says she was still affected by the experience.

Commander pledges support to auxiliary

Lin Rutherford, commander of Bourgeois-Steffel-Ray American Legion Post 77, pledged the post's support to the Unit 77 Auxiliary at its recent monthly meeting.

He stressed the importance of "harmony and togetherness" in the achievement of Legion goals.

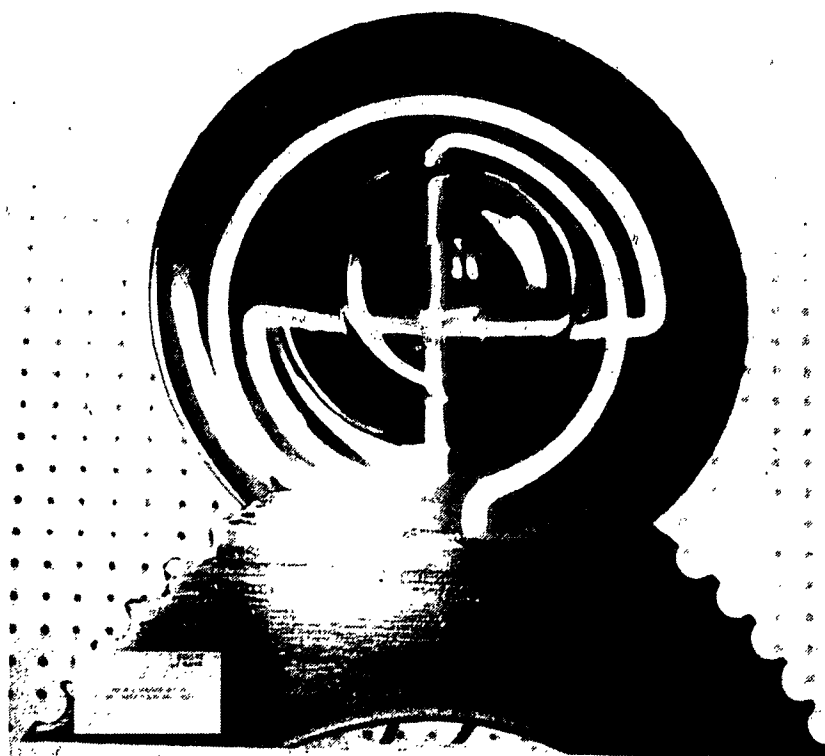

Rutherford and Ed Sauls, second vice commander, were special guests at the meeting, during which newly-elected Unit 77 President Eleanor Marsh announced her chairpersons for the coming year.

Appointed to chair committees are Mary Caillier, Americanism; Myrtle Blanchard, auxiliary emergency fund; Lorraine Norton and Gloria Norton, children and youth; Janice Barrett, communications and public relations; Heidi Klein, education and scholarship; Theresa Hubert, finance; Esther Oeschmann, foreign relations; Dorothy Biehlein and Mae Tenney, Girls State; Carmen Barrere, history of Unit 77; Mae Tenney, junior auxiliaries; Shirley Cox, junior membership; Marion Traub, kitchen; Dorothy Biehlein, leadership development; Irene Giacconi, Pere Cabibi and Lydia Rutherford, legislation; Shirley Williams and Shirley Cox, poppies; Myrtle Blanchard, special presents; Shirley Williams, senior membership; Una South, sunshine; Lucille Reese, Enice Revere and Lydia Rutherford, telephone; Lois Fallo, VAVS; Mercia Kuapp, hostesses; Betty LaFontaine, awards; and Dorothy Biehlein and Janice Barrett, constitution and by-laws.

Recommendations were made and passed to accept five new members, to purchase candy from the Kidney Foundation, to help with the RSVP Volunteer Luncheon on Sept. 21, and to send recent game proceeds to the State Emergency Fund. An appeal was made for volunteers to work with veterans at the VA Hospital.

Thank you notes were received from one of the unit's Girls Staters, Mary Shippey, and from Diane Tenney, recipient of a $200 scholarship, but the most poignant one was from several children in Georgetown, Guyana to which the unit had sent a box containing hair ribbons, combs, beads and other sundries. They wrote how delighted they were with these things we take so much for granted!

ART EXHIBIT—This unusual piece of neon and glass sculpture is one of several being displayed during September in the meeting room at the Pass Christian Library. Artist Harry Doe, 30, of Metairie, La., works in glass, neon and stained glass media. He is a member of the Houston Glass Art Association and won first place in a 1983 show for 'Houston 1982,' which is included in his Pass Christian exhibit. Also being displayed at the library are photographs by Rick Doe, 27, an electrical engineer with NASA in Cedar Lake City, Tex. The library is open from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, from 7:30 to 6 p.m. Tuesday and from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

AA membership growing younger, dual addiction on the increase

Alcoholics Anonymous' latest membership survey indicates that an increasing number of young people under the age of 31 are joining the program.

Some 20 percent of 7,600 members sampled in 1983, as opposed to 15 percent in 1980 and only seven percent in 1968 are 30 years old or younger.

Alcoholics who reported addiction to another drug in addition to alcohol increased to 31 percent, as opposed to 24 percent in 1980—a continuation of a trend that has been observed since 1977 when this question was first added to the survey.

The General Service Office of Alcoholics Anonymous in New York has been surveying its membership every three years since 1968. The 1983 survey, a scientifically designed random sample, is the sixth AA has conducted in the United States and Canada.

Thirty percent of the world-wide fellowship of recovered alcoholics which has over 656,000 reported members in the United States and Canada is female.

The survey also indicated that 60 percent had received some guidance from counselors or rehabilitation centers prior to joining AA.

An important part of the AA recovery program is attending AA meetings where recovered alcoholics share their experience with each other.

The average member in this sampling attends four meetings a week, and has a length of sobriety or total abstinence from alcohol of 45 months.

The six AA groups in Hancock County conduct 12 meetings per week, with still another in Pass Christian each Friday night.

The age span of those taking part in the 1983 survey ranged from under 15 years of age to over 85.

Although the reported addiction to another drug as well as alcohol was 31 percent of the entire sample, more than 60 percent of those under the age of 31 reported such addictions, as did 75 percent of those under 21.

Retirement means new career for local lapidary and family

After some 45 years in the upholstery business, Emory Pendergraft is not so much retiring as changing careers.

A native of Worland, Wyo., Pendergraft came south in 1937. "You went where the jobs were then," he said in reference to the years of the Great Depression.

Pendergraft and his wife Penny, who was born in Pass Christian, came to Hancock County in 1960.

For the past 15 years their upholstery business has been located at the corner of Main Street and Toulme in Bay St. Louis.

As a hobby, Pendergraft has been a practicing lapidary for the past eight to ten years.

This week he will put his hobby to work.

The Pendergrafts are opening Desert

Gems and Gifts at 105 South Toulme, which is at the back of the building which previously housed their upholstery business.

In the front of the building their daughter Linda Reed and her husband Earl are opening Cycles Plus, a retail bicycle, parts, services and accessories shop.

The four family members are enthusiastic about their new ventures.

Pendergraft's eyes gleam as his hands stroke the myriad of stones he has assembled to cut, polish and mount into custom-made jewelry.

He smiles contentedly as he displays the rings, pendants, necklaces, bracelets and bolo rings he has designed.

Happily he identifies turquoise, opals, tiger eyes, topazes, aquamarines, amethysts, corals, jades, onyx, tourmalines and lapis lazulis.

"These are zircons, which are natural stones," he explains.

"And these are zirconiums, which are man-made."

"They're just as pretty as diamonds," he asserts, "and a lot less expensive."

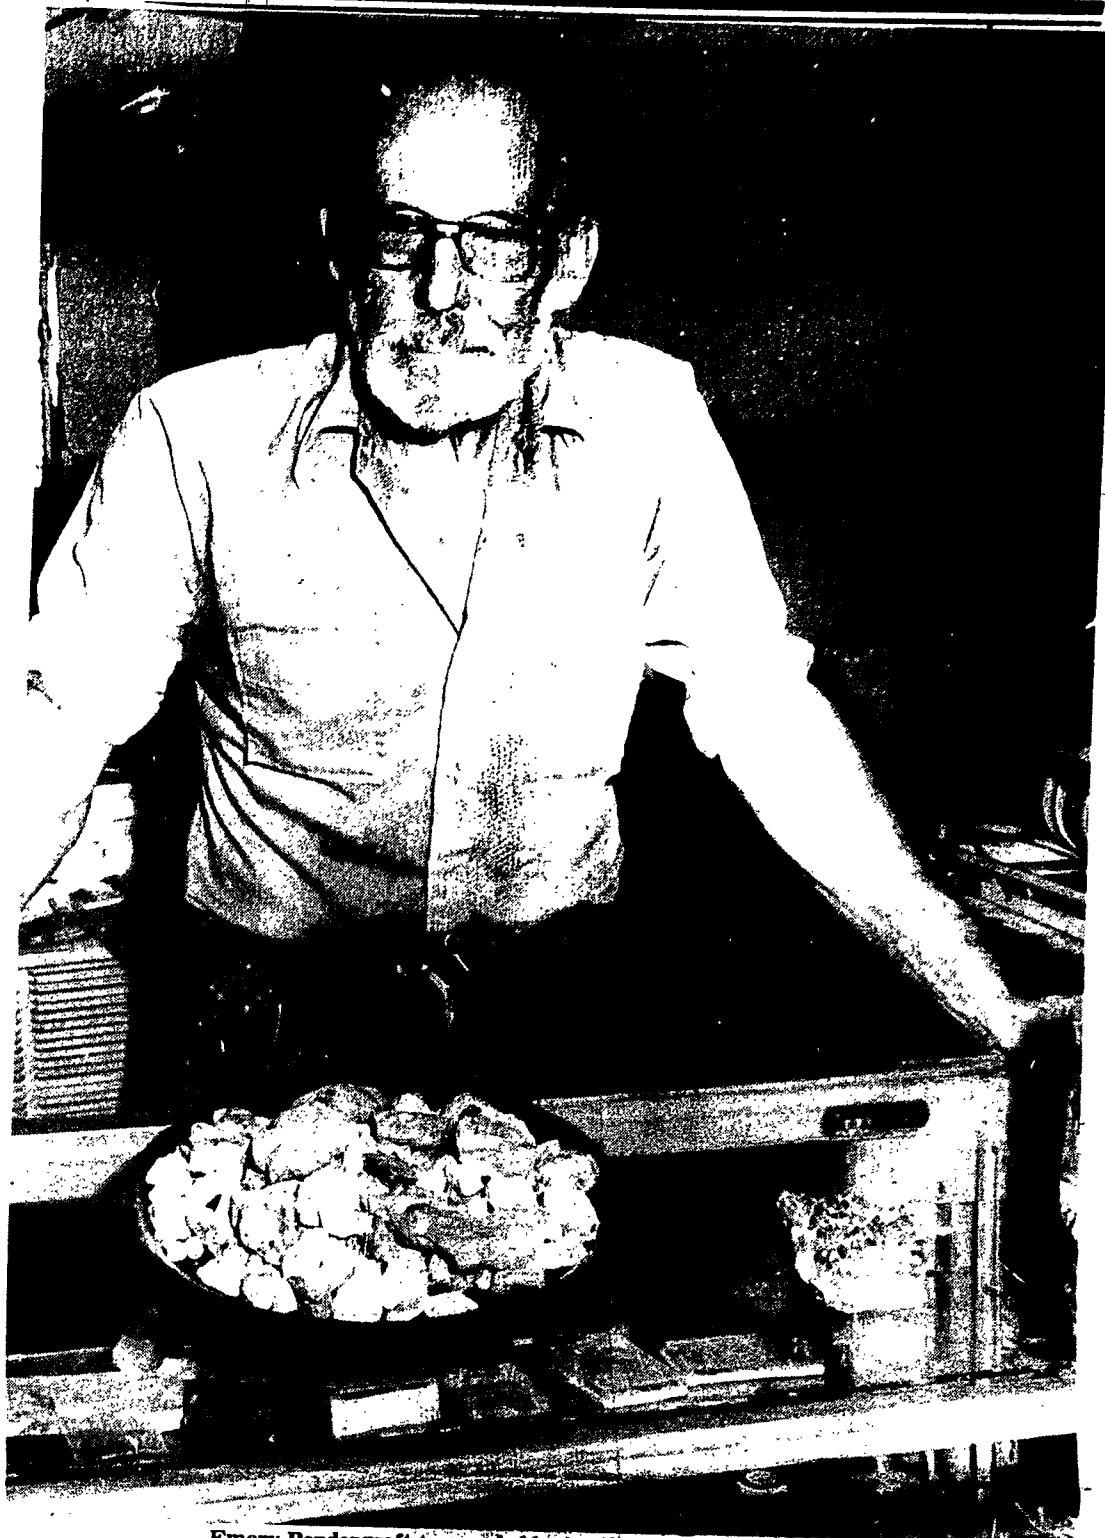

In another corner of the shop Penny Pendergraft displays gold wire jewelry, chains, earrings, cigarette lighters and hand-made ceramics.

She also has a collection of china dolls and piano dolls.

At Cycles Plus the Reeds' major line of bikes will be Fuji, Mrs. Reed said.

She believes the recent Summer Olympics has revived an interest in healthy sports and recreational activities that can be pursued throughout one's life.

"We hope we can evoke more enthusiasm in bicycling among Coast residents," she said.

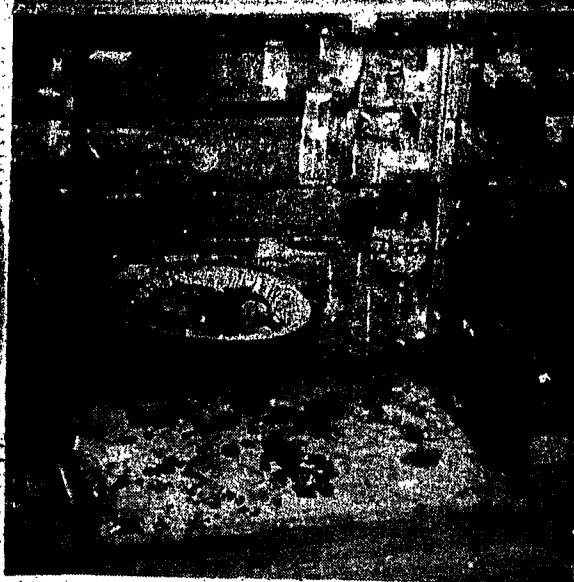

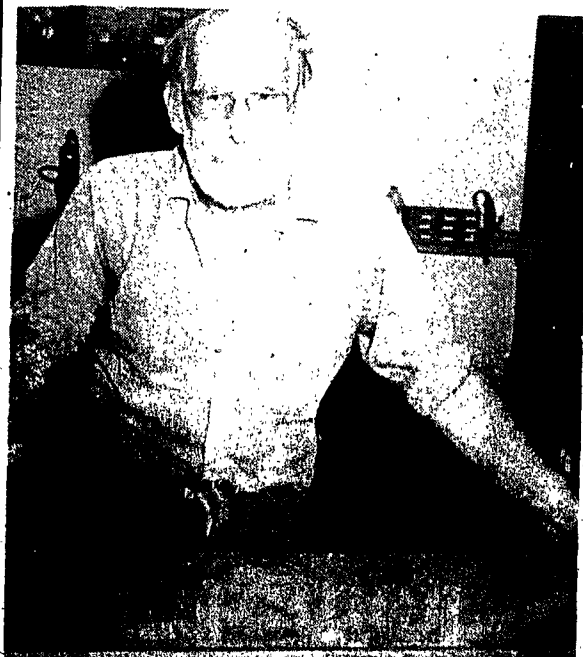

Emory Pendergraft turns a hobby into a trade at his new shop.

HOW HEALTHY IS YOUR WATER WELL?

Fresh, unpolluted water is essential to our survival. If you use a well, it's up to you to check your water source frequently and to pay careful attention to its maintenance. Surface contamination, which is often undetectable to the senses of taste or smell, can occur quickly and without warning.

Every well should have a concrete slab, a well casing that extends above the slab, and an annular (circular) seal, at least six inches thick, that completely encloses the casing to a depth of no less than 20 feet. The seal is an absolute must to prevent surface-water contamination. Many old wells are lined with brick. If the bricks are glazed and in good condition, they can be faced with an inch or so of cement to form a satisfactory seal. Unglazed brick, however, must be removed and a new seal must be installed.

Every well should be tested for minerals, chemicals (particularly nitrates), and bacteria. After the initial analysis, the well should be tested once every year.

Calcium in well water can't be removed satisfactorily, and the only way to deal with it is to switch to a different water source or resign yourself to contending with fouled pipes, the major hazard of this mineral.

A potassium permanganate filter will remove suspended mineral iron particulates down to 2 ppm (parts per million). Your best initial recourse for dealing with brown water caused by "iron bacteria," however, may be to put in a new pump that's been pretreated with full-strength swimming pool chlorine.

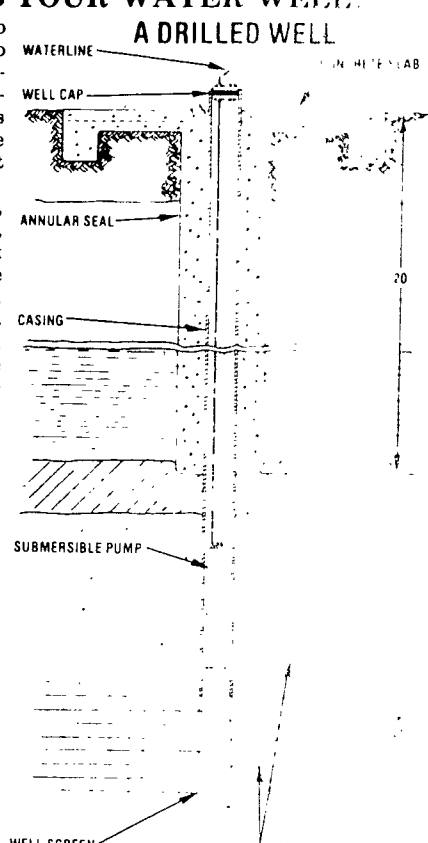

If the problem persists in spite of the pump change and chlorine flushing, a chlorinator or chemical feeder may be the answer. (That, of course, is perhaps the most hazardous surface-water chemical to look out for are nitrates. You may be able to solve the problem by drilling a new well and putting in a good annular seal, but if the nitrates still test out at more than 45 mg/liter (or 45 ppm), you shouldn't use the water. Nitrates can cause methemoglobinemia, which impairs the oxygen-transporting mechanism in the human bloodstream, and are suspected of being carcinogens.)

Wells should be checked frequently for living organisms of the coli aerogenes group. To counteract such organic contamination, clean the well by adding chlorine to it: three gallons of chlorine bleach with 5% sodium hypochlorite will clean the casing and lines of a six- to eight-inch well. Allow the chlorine to remain in the well for at least 12 hours and then open all the faucets and let water run until the chlorine smell is no longer noticeable. Wait two weeks, then have another sample tested. If the problem is still a problem, repeat the chlorine treatment.

If this procedure doesn't eliminate the bacteria, you'll need to check the casing for holes. If the casing looks all right, the well may have to be blown out with compressed air. Repeat the chlorine treatment if you replaced a defective casing or if the well is contaminated well.

If everything else fails, drill a new well. Be sure, if you do, to follow the safety measures outlined above, and have your well water tested every year. The welfare of you and your family may be at stake.

ETV classroom broadcast schedule includes new series

Fourteen new instructional television series will be added to Mississippi ETV's in-school schedule this fall. Among the new series is Mississippi ETV's own production, "PostScripts." The new schedule begins the week of September 10.

"PostScripts" is a series of eight half-hour programs recommended for secondary American literature classes and of interest to a general audience as well.

Taped on location at the authors' homes, the programs offer the audience an insight into the lives and works of Mississippi writers Eudora Welty, Shelby Foote, Margaret Walker, Barry Hannah, Ellen Gilchrist, Ellen Douglas, Elizabeth Spencer and Willie Morris.

"Cursive Handwriting" is a series of 21 fifteen-minute lessons produced by a consortium of which Mississippi ETV was a part. The lessons, for grades two and three, contain programs appropriate for two handwriting methods. Direct instruction, letter animation and graphics are used to introduce letters and words.

"Reading Rainbow," the popular summer series promoting good books for grades one through three, is added to the fall schedule this year. LeVar Burton is host.

"A Matter of Choice" is a series of specially adapted segments from the acclaimed "Chemical People" series of last fall. The series is concerned with the prevention of teen-age drug and alcohol abuse and highlights specific drug/alcohol use and abuse concepts.

In the area of science, "The Mole Concept" and "Chemistry" are the newest additions to the ETV schedule. "The Mole Concept", for high school students, opens the way to understanding chemical reactions at the molecular level. "Chemistry", also for high school, covers elements, compounds and mixtures; the periodic table; chemical bonding and atomic structure; solutions, acids, bases and salts; and reaction rates and equilibrium.

Mississippi ETV's social studies curriculum includes three new series. "Finding Our Way," for grades four through six, covers basic map and globe skills. "Summer of Judgment: The Watergate Hearings" is recommended for high school students and offers a close-up look at one of the most significant events in modern American history. "Why in the World," originally envisioned by Walter Cronkite, is designed to cover current events for high school students.

Computer science is covered with two new series this fall. "Computerbreak" is designed to introduce the fundamental concepts of computer literacy to pupils in grades four through eight. "Making the Most of the Micro" is a continuation of the popular "The Computer Programme" from the BBC. The lessons present many varied uses of the microcomputer for home and office.

In math, "Math Cycle" is the newest entry in Mississippi ETV's ITV schedule. The lessons, for second- and third-graders, introduce and extend basic mathematical concepts and skills for mastery.

For teachers and other educators, three staff development series are scheduled.

"Teaching Writing: A Process Approach" presents a five-step model for teaching writing and includes demonstrations of teaching strategies appropriate for each stage in the process. "Ready or Not" is designed to help educators plan for and use microcomputers in schools.

"Dealing with Social Problems in the Classroom" examines a variety of problems that interfere with the learning process and suggests methods through which their effects may be lessened.

English program receives commendation

The University of Southern Mississippi's bachelor of arts program in English has received a commendation from an external consultant hired by the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning.

The rating is given to programs deemed "exemplary" and "nationally competitive," according to English Department Chairman Dr. Thomas Richardson.

The review consultant, Dr. Robert Kellogg of the University of Virginia, stressed the "strength of the program and the very productive faculty."

"He considered the program to be among the top 10 percent in this country and in his view certainly nationally competitive," said Richardson.

Since 1979 the department faculty have published 43 complete books, 27 stories, 82 poems and more than 60 articles. They have read more than 100 papers at professional meetings.

Their accomplishments have included Noel Polk's edition of Faulkner's "Sanctuary," Peggy Preshaw's "Eudora Welty: Critical Essays," and Frederick Barthelme's story collection, "Moon Deluxe," all of which received favorable reviews on the front page of the New York Times Book Review.

Philip Koln's "Professional Writing for Nurses in Education, Practice and Research" won a Book of the Year Award from the "American Journal of Nursing."

Angela Ball's Poem "You" was chosen from over 3,000 entries for the Sotheby's International Poetry Prize. Elizabeth Inness-Brown's "Satin Palms" was named to the Associated Writing Programs Award Series in Short Fiction among other prizes.

Linwood Orange's "English: The Pre-Professional Major," a Modern Language Association monograph, is in use at more than 700 universities.

Seven books in the G.K. Hall Twayne American Authors Series have been or are being written by department members, including "Critical Essays on Edward Albee" by Philip Koln, "Elizabeth Spencer" by Preshaw, "Walker Percy" by Jac Tharpe, "Joan Didion," "William F. Buckley" and "Leslie Fielder," all by Mark Winchell, and "Ralph Waldo Emerson" by Donald Yonnella.

Five nationally known journals are edited by USM faculty: "Explorations in Renaissance Culture," Gary Stringer; "Mississippi Folklore Register," Koln and Richardson; "Mississippi Review," Barthelme; "Notes on Mississippi Writers," Hilton Anderson and "Southern Quarterly," Preshaw.

James Sims and Stanley Hauer represent USM on such outside publications as "Seventeenth Century News" and "Interpretations."

Three international editorial projects at USM include "The Chaucer Variorum," Charles Moorman; "The Donne Variorum," Stringer; and the "Faulkner Concordance," Polk.

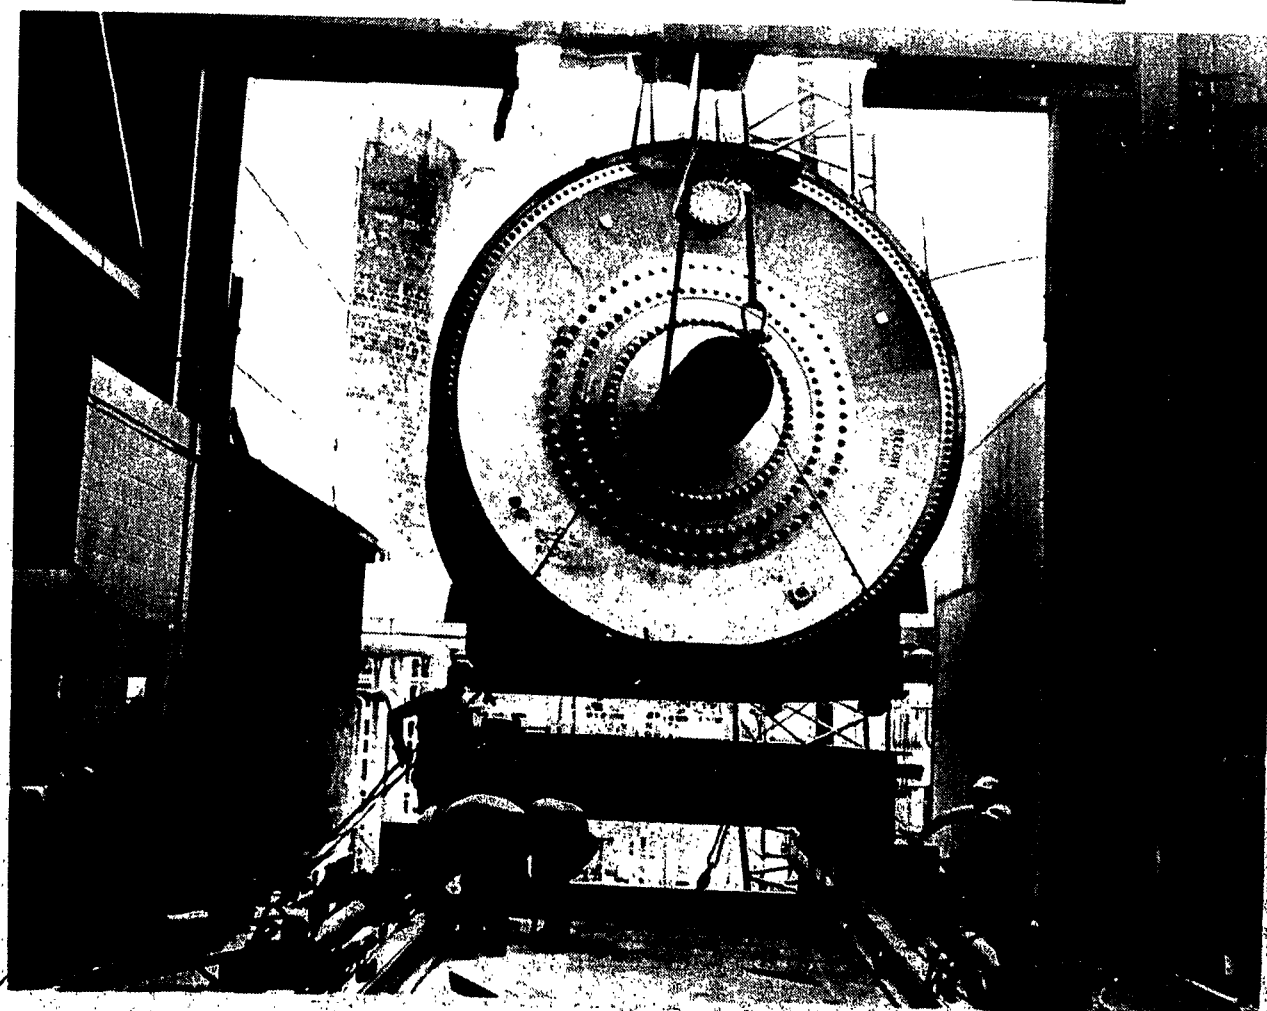

Special programs with national recognition include the British Studies Program, the Center for Writers Visitors Series and the annual Southeastern Conference on English in the Two-Year College Institute in Technical Communication.

"An undergraduate English major at USM can study literature, creative writing, technical writing, rhetoric and composition, linguistics and TESOL (Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages) with knowledgeable faculty who are all experts in their areas," Richardson said.

YANKEE DRYER—Workmen look on as a Yankee dryer, resembling an old-fashioned locomotive engine, is installed at Georgia-Pacific Corp.'s Palatka, Fla., tissue plant. Manufactured in Walsley, England, this Yankee is a hollow cast iron shell 18 feet wide, 20 feet long and weighing 163 tons. Used in the tissue drying process, its outer surface heats to 300° Fahrenheit, and while spinning at 60 mph, dries 600 feet of tissue per minute. A 450-ton crane lowered the dryer to an opening in the side of the building where it was mounted on rails and rolled into its position on the production line.

AG AFFAIRS

Each log rode a steel conveyor to the second floor level where it was debarked.

No old time cant hooks were around for log turning. Each log was conveyed mechanically into sawing position. It took about ten seconds for a band saw to rip through the 16 foot logs and return.

There was a control room looking out on the two saw carriages which operated with clock-like precision.

First the four side slabs came off the log, same as a generation ago. Then the log was cut into boards, the same as in past times except faster and with very little man labor involved.

Conveyors shuttled the slabs away en route to a chipper. Bank and sawdust were used as the fuel to provide steam power for operation of the mill at less than ten percent of the cost of electric power.

Other planks were relayed to dimensioning saws. Mechanically they were sorted by size and grade and dunked into a solution of fungicide and pesticide to prevent deterioration during the period they were in drying stacks on the yard.

On the yard it takes considerable time to dry the stacks of boards. The time varies according to the temperature and dryness of the air and the end use of the lumber.

The mill also operates two huge kilns where the drying process can be reduced to about ten days.

Outside the main mill building a screaming sound lets you know you are near the planer which puts the smooth finish on lumber.

Gene Gooch, who has been in the sawmilling business for 20 years after following in his father's and grandfather's footsteps, says the biggest change in modern sawmilling is the switch to labor saving equipment. Labor costs at the mill today are half of what they were 20 years ago.

The Bentonian mill specializes in hardwood lumber which is used mainly in flooring and furniture making.

Gooch reports that the current market is better for hardwoods such as red oak, white oak and ash because of the beauty of the grain in furniture and flooring.

The market is not as good for the smooth grain woods such as sycamore, poplar, gum and cottonwood. These woods virtually have no grain design and are used primarily for upholstered furniture framework or painted woods.

Gooch indicated that there is a lot of waste in the sawmilling process. That is because trees grow round instead of square, and a sizeable slab of board and wood must be removed to square the log before it can be sawed into quality hardwood lumber.

This mill sells some of its slabs as chips.

Production volume has become increasingly important in modern sawmilling.

No longer do farm wagons enter the millyard with a few logs to help the farm cashflow at a critical time.

Gooch said that with today's trucks, loaders, and other equipment used in modern harvesting and hauling timber, it is not considered economically feasible to harvest less than 40,000 to 50,000 board feet at a time.

Converting this to logs and trees, for better understanding, an average log size is about 120 board feet. So the minimum feasible harvest unit, Gooch said, is about 375 logs. A typical forest tree of merchantable size contains two or three logs so we're talking about approximately 150 lofty oak trees.

The farmer's share, based on a standing timber price of from $125 to $145 per thousand board feet from the Yazoo and Big Black River area, turns out to be about $18.20 per standing log, or perhaps $40.50 per tree for a total farm value sale of about $6,075 based on these averages used. And that's a lot different from Grandpa's day, too!
